

Lower Food Prices Partially Offset By Coffee Spiral

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
October brought relief to consumers in the form of lower supermarket bills, an Associated Press marketbasket shows. But there was continued bad news for coffee drinkers.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973, and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month.

Among the highlights of the latest survey:

—The marketbasket bill declined during October at the checklist store in 11 cities and increased in two. The average drop was 2.5 per cent, and the average increase was 1.9 per cent. On an over-all basis, the marketbasket bill at the checklist store dropped 1.8 per cent last month. During September, there was an over-all increase of 2 per cent.

—Over a 12-month period, the marketbasket bill increased at the checklist store in nine cities and decreased in four. Over-all, the bill at the start of November was 2 per cent higher than it was a year earlier.

—Many of the savings came at the meat counter. The price of a pound of chopped chuck decreased at the checklist store in six cities, pork chops were down in eight cities and frankfurters dropped in six cities. The good news may not last, however. There are fewer cattle in feedlots now than there were at the start of the year, and the government has predicted higher beef prices this winter.

—Higher prices at the wholesale level, with increases ranging from 5 to 19 per cent. The price of coffee was unchanged in four cities and decreased in two. The requested size and brand of coffee was not available at the checklist store in the 13th city. The retail price has now topped $2 in almost every city.

—Milk prices, which went up in nine cities during September, rose at the checklist store in eight cities during October. The increases have been only a penny or two, but have been fairly steady in boosting the cost of the staple to an average of about 45 cents a quart in onequart containers.

A look at the over-all number of items in the AP survey showed fewer increases during October than in September. Here are the percentages of increases and decreases:

Sept. Oct. Up 30.3 25.6 21.5
Unchanged 44.6 50.3 Unavailable 2.5 2.6

The items on the AP checklist were: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice concentrate, coffee, paper towels, butter, Grade-A medium white eggs, creamy peanut butter, laundry detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, chocolate chip cookies, milk, all-beef frankfurters and granulated sugar.

The cities checked were: Albuquerque, N.M., Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, R.I., Salt Lake City and Seattle.

Legal Insurance Programs Growing

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

A growing number of Americans are signing up for prepaid legal insurance, and the number of plans is expected to increase sharply next year, thanks to a provision in the recently passed tax bill.

The programs are designed to provide legal services to middle-income Americans who do not qualify for public defender plans and cannot afford expensive lawyers' fees.

There are two basic types of group legal arrangements — those providing a minimum of service, such as advice and consultation, and those offering substantial benefits in both civil and criminal cases.

Violence Marks Puerto Rican Vote

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Puerto Rico's gubernatorial campaign has been marked by violence, emotional speeches, slogans put to a Latin beat and heated controversy over the future of the island's relationship with the United States.

There have been at least six deaths, two bombings, several shootings and other sporadic clashes between political activists. However, this is considered an improvement over the 1972 campaign, when at least seven persons were killed.

Although Puerto Ricans do not vote in the U.S. presidential election, officials predict that 1.5 million of the 1.75 million registered voters will cast ballots for a gubernatorial candidate. This 85 per cent turnout is considerably above the 50-55 per cent expected on the mainland.

"We participate more in elections and tend to demonstrate it much more graphically and dramatically than in the States," said Jose Celso Barbosa, dean of Sacred Heart University.

Independent opinion polls give Gov. Rafael Hernandez Colon, who is seeking a second four-year term, a slight edge over San Juan Mayor Carlos Romero Barcelo. Hernandez' Popular Democratic party favors maintaining the island's status as a commonwealth of the United States, while Romero's New Progressive party advocates making Puerto Rico the 51st state.

The Puerto Rico Independence party and Puerto Rico Socialist party are both fielding candidates advocating independence for the island, but pro-independence candidates got only 4.8 per cent of the vote in 1972.

Among the states where legal plans have been established are Alaska, New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Arizona, Louisiana, Ohio, California, Maine, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Most of the comprehensive plans are linked to labor unions and have been set up as a result of collective bargaining agreements. Philip J. Murphy, a California attorney, said there are about 125 or 150 such plans across the country.

Murphy, who is the American Bar Association expert on prepaid legal plans, said that between 1.5 and 2 million persons, including union members and their dependents, are covered by the programs.

Until now, there was a question as to whether employers' contributions to legal plans and the value of any legal services received under the plans were considered income for the individual.

If the Internal Revenue Service decided that this money should be reported as income, it would be taxable. That would have meant that a participant in a legal insurance plan who received services for which a lawyer normally would have charged $3,000, would have been required to report the $3,000 as income and pay tax on it. He also would have been required to pay tax on his employers' contribution to the plan.

The legal insurance plans vary from area to area. Some plans limit participants to a small group of lawyers; others allow individuals to choose their own lawyer, who then bills the program, much in the way a doctor or a hospital bills a health insurance plan.

Statistics on the legal plans are difficult to find since the programs are relatively new. The oldest prepaid plan still operating, involving laborers in Shreveport, La., did not start until 1971.

Murphy said the number of union members using legal services in Shreveport doubled after the insurance plan went into effect. He said about 15 to 20 per cent of those covered by most collectively bargained plans use some legal service during the year.

The amount of coverage provided varies from plan to plan and ranges up into the thousands of dollars. In Shreveport, for example, the insurance plan provides up to $1,685 per year for legal expenses.

A plan sponsored by labor unions and the construction industry in Alaska collects 13 cents an hour from an estimated 4,000 members. In exchange, participants get up to $7,500 worth of legal services per year for each covered family member. As in most legal insurance plans, contingent fee cases — where a lawyer takes a case with his fee depending on if and what he wins — are excluded.

Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter wind up their campaigns tonight barely 100 miles apart in the President's home state of Michigan. And if the poll takers and pundits are right, the candidates are reaching Election Day in a virtual dead heat.

Too close to call is the forecast coming from most quarters in the hours before Americans go to the polls in the nation's Bicentennial presidential election.

In his final day of campaigning for the office he now holds through appointment, the Republican President was in Ohio and planned to go on to Michigan for a closing rally in his hometown of Grand Rapids.

His Democratic challenger campaigned in California and then planned to wind up his two-year quest for the presidency with a rally in Flint, Mich., before flying to his Georgia home.

The Michigan stop was inserted in Carter's schedule at the last minute, an indication the candidate believes he still has a chance to carry Ford's home state with its 21 electoral votes.

Of uncertain impact was an incident Sunday at the Plains, Ga., Baptist Church. The church canceled services after a black minister from Albany, Ga., who had applied for membership in the church, attempted to join the worshippers.

Carter, a member of the church's board of deacons and a regular teacher at its Sunday school, learned of the incident while campaigning in Texas and said he believed "anyone who lives in our community who wants to be a member of our church, regardless of race, ought to be admitted." Carter later said he would "seek action" to provide that guarantee to those "who share our religious faith."

The Rev. Bruce Edwards, pastor of the Plains church, said he believed the effort of the Rev. Clennon King to join the church was politically motivated. The Rev. Mr. King had once announced his intention to seek the 1972 Republican presidential nomination and the 1970 Republican gubernatorial nomination in Georgia.

William I. Greener Jr., spokesman for the President Ford Committee, said "Obviously, we were not involved and have no further comment."

Both Ford and Carter have purchased time on each of the three major television networks tonight for final appeals to an electorate which pollsters continue to find closely divided with many undecided voters.

The final Gallup Poll, released Sunday night, gave Ford 47 per cent, Carter 46 per cent, others 3 per cent and 4 per cent undecided. It was the first time since March that Ford had led Carter in a national poll, though the difference is so small that it has no statistical import.

Harris, whose latest poll, showed Carter with a 45-44 lead, said he plans to continue polling through Tuesday. "The vote is so close and so soft, you have to go right down to the wire," he said.

Bootlegging Of Cigarettes Under Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal officials say they are "establishing a foothold" in the fight against cigarette smuggling.

The Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, in a report issued Sunday, said officials in seven states that are part of a pilot program "may be making inroads against" the cigarette smuggling gangs that are costing the states hundreds of millions of dollars per year in lost taxes.

The smugglers buy their cigarettes legally in states which grow tobacco and levy low taxes on it. They are North Carolina, where the tax is 2 cents per pack; Virginia, 2½ cents; and Kentucky, 3 cents.

Legislators in the tobacco-producing states are loathe to raise the taxes for fear that high sales taxes will decrease the demand for tobacco and hurt their tobacco-growing constituents.

"You can see the tremendous profits to be had in buying them in those states and bootlegging them in Minnesota, with its 18-cent tax; Connecticut, with a 21-cent tax; New Jersey, 19 cents; or New York, with a 15 cent tax," said George Stewart, executive director of the Interstate Revenue Research Center in Indianapolis.

The center has received $787,000 from LEAA to coordinate investigations of smuggling in the seven-state pilot area of Missouri, Michigan, Ohio, Florida, Illinois, Minnesota and Indiana.

To date, the investigations have resulted in 38 arrests, with 54,000 cartons of cigarettes confiscated.

The stakes are high. Stewart estimated that five states in the group of seven, not counting Florida and Missouri, will lose a combined total of $100 million this year in taxes that would have been collected on cigarettes legally imported into them. An industry group has predicted that New York alone will lose $110 million on 44 million cartons expected to be smuggled in this year.

The smugglers are not standing still, according to the LEAA. Some are stealing or forging legal tax stamps for the states in which they operate. Others are mixing smuggled cigarettes with legitimately shipped and taxed ones. Still others are trying to take over legitimate retail businesses as outlets for the smuggled cigarettes.

Weather

Sunny and cool today with a high in the upper 40s. Clear and cold tonight with a low in the middle 30s. Mostly sunny and a little warmer Tuesday with temperatures in the lower 50s. Chances of precipitation, zero per cent today, 10 per cent tonight and 20 per cent Tuesday. The high Saturday was 49 with a low of 42. Sunday's high was 45 with a low during the night of 25.

turnout is expected for the General Election in Pickaway County because of the interest in local races and issues as well as national offices.

Railroad Station Saved

By MRS. ART DEAL
For The Herald

Through the cooperation and support of the board of directors of the Ashville Grain Company, the backing of the Ashville Community Club, and the efforts put forth by interested citizens and the Ashville Bicentennial Committee, it now has become a reality that the Norfolk and Western Railroad Depot will be saved and retained here in Ashville as a historical landmark of the village.

After it was learned that the N & W Railroad officials agreed to donate the building to the village, with the stipulation that the building be moved off of the railroad property, a giant effort was then put forth to find a new location for the station. The Ashville Grain company directors agreed to lease a plot of land on the corner of Madison Avenue and Cromley Street so that the depot, built in 1875, can be moved and preserved as a community heritage center and meeting place for civic organizations of the Ashville Community, especially the Ashville Senior Citizens who could make use of it daily as a Senior Citizen Center.

At the past October meeting of the Community Club it was voted by the members that the club will be the governing body and will be responsible for the moving and the upkeep of the building. Over $3,000.00 already has been raised towards the SOS Project with donations being made from the proceeds of the musical "I Love America," The Sologua Garden Club, and individuals who wanted to see the building saved.

Much praise must go to several dedicated people, while running into several obstacles, never gave up hope. Those people who are to be commended for many hours of dedication in seeing the station saved are Roger Southward, Don Forquer, Mr. and Mrs. Art Deal, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. David Dill, Mrs. Neil Barr, Al Cornelious, Max Marion, Nelle Osterle, and Bob Hines.

Those appointed as a governing body of the Community Club to further take charge are their board of directors: Art Deal, George Myers, Al Cornelious, and two appointees, Roger Southward and Don Forquer. They are now making plans in obtaining movers for the building, concrete footers for the foundation, and a new roof. This first phase could be costly and it is hoped that many will want to donate their time and talents to help cut back on the expenses. Anyone wishing to help may call any of the members of the Community Club Committee. Those wishing to make financial donations may make checks payable to the SOS Fund, and mail to Rodger Southward, 125 Maple St., Ashville, Ohio 43103.

Cash Move Done Quietly

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — How do you move about $752.5 million in cash and securities? As quickly and quietly as possible, Bank of Oklahoma officials say.

That's how they moved $2.5 million in cash and $750 million in securities Sunday afternoon. They had the help of about three dozen persons, including nine employees of Brink's, Inc., eight off-duty policemen and seven uniformed policemen in patrol cars.

It took about three hours to move the 357 sacks and boxes of cash and coins and the 192 boxes of securities from the old bank vault to the new bank a block away, said W. W. Foster Jr., the bank's vice president of operations.

The "goodies," as Foster called them, now are safely stashed behind a foot-thick solid steel vault door with a 72-hour time clock. The vault has 18-inch walls of concrete and reinforced steel mesh.

All streets and alleys around the bank buildings were sealed off for the three-hour move.

Carter Church Confrontation Political Sabotage?

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — Jimmy Carter, whose Baptist Church canceled services rather than admit four blacks, says he will "seek church action" to guarantee that "those who share our religious faith" are allowed to worship there.

The confrontation outside the Plains Baptist Church on Sunday, just two days before the election, prompted allegations that the incident was staged in an attempt to embarrass the Democratic presidential nominee.

But the Rev. Clennon King, a 60-year-old black minister and political activist who once sought the presidency through the Republican and Afro-American parties, denied that political motives caused him and three other blacks to seek entrance to the church.

The church's pastor, the Rev. Bruce Edwards, blamed the incident on "Republican politics," and he said, "I am sure it is an attempt by enemies of Gov. Carter to sabotage his campaign."

Spokesmen for President Ford denied any involvement in the incident, but they used it as an occasion for criticizing Carter.

Meanwhile, the church deacons, who had decided to enforce a 1965 resolution excluding "Negroes or other civil rights activists," voted Sunday to recommend that the Rev. Mr. Edwards be fired, a published report said today.

The pastor, who said he disagreed with the resolution, had told reporters at a news conference earlier in the day that the phrasing of it banned "niggers and civil rights activists" from joining the church.

The deacons were upset because the quote had been publicized throughout the nation, the Atlanta Constitution reported. The newspaper said the move to fire the pastor would be made at a church prayer meeting Wednesday.

The Rev. Mr. Edwards was not immediately available for comment on the report.

Carter and his family have expressed opposition to the 1965 resolution, which reads, according to a typewritten copy the deacons gave to reporters:

"The ushers refuse to admit any Negroes or other civil rights agitators to all worship services in this church."

Carter's mother, Lillian Carter, said later in Washington, D.C., that she had invited blacks to worship in the church "and given them a seat on the front row." She said she wished they could become members.

When the Rev. Mr. King — no relation to the late Dr. Martin Luther King — showed up with his companions at the church on Sunday, the Rev. Mr. Edwards told him that

"There will be no services today."

The Rev. Mr. Edwards said the board of deacons voted Tuesday night, 24 hours after the Rev. Mr. King applied for membership, to enforce the 1965 resolution. He said they later decided to cancel worship services Sunday to avoid possible trouble.

"I felt that under the extreme tension we would be under, it would be impossible for us to worship," the Rev. Mr. Edwards said.

The Rev. Mr. King who makes his home in Albany, Ga., about 30 miles from Plains, said he would return to the church next week.

He denied his move was politically (Continued on Page 16)

The Ashville Grain company directors agreed to lease a plot of land on the corner of Madison Avenue and Cromley Street so that the depot, built in 1875, can be moved and preserved as a community heritage center and meeting place for civic organizations of the Ashville Community, especially the Ashville Senior Citizens who could make use of it daily as a Senior Citizen Center.

At the past October meeting of the Community Club it was voted by the members that the club will be the governing body and will be responsible for the moving and the upkeep of the building. Over $3,000.00 already has been raised towards the SOS Project with donations being made from the proceeds of the musical "I Love America," The Solloqua Garden Club, and individuals who wanted to see the building saved.

Much praise must go to several dedicated people, while running into several obstacles, never gave up hope. Those people who are to be commended for many hours of dedication in seeing the station saved are Roger Southward, Don Forquer, Mr. and Mrs. Art Deal, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. David Dill, Mrs. Neil Barr, Al Cornelious, Max Marion, Nelle Osterle, and Bob Hines.

Those appointed as a governing body of the Community Club to further take charge are their board of directors: Art Deal, George Myers, Al Cornelious, and two appointees, Roger Southward and Don Forquer. They are now making plans in obtaining movers for the building, concrete footers for the foundation, and a new roof. This first phase could be costly and it is hoped that many will want to donate their time and talents to help cut back on the expenses. Anyone wishing to help may call any of the members of the Community Club Committee. Those wishing to make financial donations may make checks payable to the SOS Fund, and mail to Rodger Southward, 125 Maple St., Ashville, Ohio 43103.

Cash Move Done Quietly

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — How do you move about $752.5 million in cash and securities? As quickly and quietly as possible, Bank of Oklahoma officials say.

That's how they moved $2.5 million in cash and $750 million in securities Sunday afternoon. They had the help of about three dozen persons, including nine employees of Brink's, Inc., eight off-duty policemen and seven uniformed policemen in patrol cars.

It took about three hours to move the 357 sacks and boxes of cash and coins and the 192 boxes of securities from the old bank vault to the new bank a block away, said W. W. Foster Jr., the bank's vice president of operations.

The "goodies," as Foster called them, now are safely stashed behind a foot-thick solid steel vault door with a 72-hour time clock. The vault has 18-inch walls of concrete and reinforced steel mesh.

All streets and alleys around the bank buildings were sealed off for the three-hour move.

Carter Church Confrontation Political Sabotage?

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — Jimmy Carter, whose Baptist Church canceled services rather than admit four blacks, says he will "seek church action" to guarantee that "those who share our religious faith" are allowed to worship there.

The confrontation outside the Plains Baptist Church on Sunday, just two days before the election, prompted allegations that the incident was staged in an attempt to embarrass the Democratic presidential nominee.

But the Rev. Clennon King, a 60-year-old black minister and political activist who once sought the presidency through the Republican and Afro-American parties, denied that political motives caused him and three other blacks to seek entrance to the church.

The church's pastor, the Rev. Bruce Edwards, blamed the incident on "Republican politics," and he said, "I am sure it is an attempt by enemies of Gov. Carter to sabotage his campaign."

Spokesmen for President Ford denied any involvement in the incident, but they used it as an occasion for criticizing Carter.

Meanwhile, the church deacons, who had decided to enforce a 1965 resolution excluding "Negroes or other civil rights activists," voted Sunday to recommend that the Rev. Mr. Edwards be fired, a published report said today.

The pastor, who said he disagreed with the resolution, had told reporters at a news conference earlier in the day that the phrasing of it banned "niggers and civil rights activists" from joining the church.

The deacons were upset because the quote had been publicized throughout the nation, the Atlanta Constitution reported. The newspaper said the move to fire the pastor would be made at a church prayer meeting Wednesday.

The Rev. Mr. Edwards was not immediately available for comment on the report.

Carter and his family have expressed opposition to the 1965 resolution, which reads, according to a typewritten copy the deacons gave to reporters:

"The ushers refuse to admit any Negroes or other civil rights agitators to all worship services in this church."

Carter's mother, Lillian Carter, said later in Washington, D.C., that she had invited blacks to worship in the church "and given them a seat on the front row." She said she wished they could become members.

When the Rev. Mr. King — no relation to the late Dr. Martin Luther King — showed up with his companions at the church on Sunday, the Rev. Mr. Edwards told him that

"There will be no services today."

The Rev. Mr. Edwards said the board of deacons voted Tuesday night, 24 hours after the Rev. Mr. King applied for membership, to enforce the 1965 resolution. He said they later decided to cancel worship services Sunday to avoid possible trouble.

"I felt that under the extreme tension we would be under, it would be impossible for us to worship," the Rev. Mr. Edwards said.

The Rev. Mr. King who makes his home in Albany, Ga., about 30 miles from Plains, said he would return to the church next week.

He denied his move was politically

Only 2 Billionaires In U.S. Still Living

NEW YORK (AP) — Daniel K. Ludwig lives in a New York penthouse, running his shipping empire and overseeing the creation of a timber plantation in the Brazilian Amazon.

John D. MacArthur, an insurance company executive, holds court at a corner table in the coffee shop of a Florida hotel.

Though miles apart, the men share a bond: They are the last two living American billionaires, according to Fortune magazine.

Both MacArthur and Ludwig were born in 1897, dropped out of school after the eighth grade and "operate through an intricate web of private companies about which there is only limited public information," the financial magazine says in its November issue, to be published Tuesday.

There the parallel ends, according to Lewis Beman, Fortune associate editor who wrote the article on those he termed "magnificent relics of an earlier age of capitalism."

MacArthur and Ludwig took different paths to become billionaires in a nation that now boasts about 180,000 millionaires. They outlived the three other men who until recently shared their status as billionaires: Howard R. Hughes, J. Paul Getty and H.L. Hunt.

Fortune estimated each man's financial worth at more than a billion dollars, but said it did not have access to figures on their exact holdings.

MacArthur, whose late brother was playwright Charles MacArthur, is the only stockholder of the Chicago-based Banker's Life and Casualty, the nation's 44th largest insurance company.

Fortune describes MacArthur — the fourth son of an itinerant preacher born in Pittston, Pa. — as looking "less like a billionaire than a retired postal clerk."

He wears a rumpled shirt and baggy wash-and-wear slacks, lives in a room overlooking a parking lot, has "quit smoking three or four times a year" and drives a five-year-old Cadillac with "erratically functioning windows."

Ludwig is less accessible, Fortune said, and hasn't spoken to a journalist since 1963.

Born in South Haven, Mich., the son of a real estate agent, Ludwig started out with a tug boat fleet. After pioneering a new system for financing tankers in 1936, his fleet grew to the current 50 ships totaling nearly 7 million tons, making him what Fortune describes as "one of the world's major independent shipowners."

Fortune says Ludwig, 79, occasionally walks to work at about 8 a.m. from his home in a Fifth Avenue penthouse. There are luncheon meetings at the Warwick Hotel and "21" restaurant.

In the mid-1960s, Ludwig got the idea to raise commercially an Indian tree called Gmelina arborea, which produces wood for pulp and lumber at about 10 times the rate of ordinary trees.

On the 3-million-acre tract he bought for $3 million in Brazil, he's backing the planting of the plantation—and the community to do the work.

"But according to present plans," Fortune says, "by the end of the project's 'first stage' in 1983, the total investment will amount to $1 billion."

Sheriff Investigates Thefts

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies investigated six theft reports over the weekend.

According to the report, James Brown, custodian at Walnut Twp. Elementary school, told Pickaway County Sheriff's Office that thieves had broken into the school over the weekend.

According to the report, entry was gained by breaking the cafeteria window and unlatched it. Once inside, the thieves went to the teacher's lounge and the boiler room, and then to the school office. In the office they ransacked a desk and tried to gain entry to two safes. Items taken included cash, checks, and various bills. The exact amount of the missing items has not yet been determined, pending a complete check of the materials.

Peter H. McQuain, owner of the Ashville Pharmacy, told the sheriff's office that someone had broken into his store.

According to the report, the thieves entered the building by burning a 14 by 18 inch hole in a double steel door in the basement. The alarm was apparently by-passed.

Once inside, the culprits went to the pharmacy area where they removed narcotics. Two cash registers were ransacked, along with drawers in the pharmacy area. Specific items taken, and the exact amounts, were not immediately determined. The investigation is continuing.

Kenneth Hardbarger Jr., 12967 Ashville Pike, told Sheriff's deputies that his father was checking his house while he was away, and found that someone had entered an unlocked garage door and removed wheels and assorted tools, the total value of which was $329. The incident occurred between 4:30 p.m. and 1 a.m. Saturday.

Officials of the Charles H. Shook Construction Company informed the Sheriff's department that sometime over the weekend, thieves entered three trailers on the construction site of the new sewage treatment plant west of the city.

Apparently the only items taken were a radio and an electronic calculator.

At 6:09 p.m. Sunday, an occupant of the Rifle Trailer Court on the Island Road told the Sheriff's office that she observed three subjects siphoning gasoline from a Westfall school bus that was parked in the H and S Service lot, located across the road from the Rifle Trailer Court.

Through a description of the car, Deputy James Deal was able to apprehend the three subjects a short time later. The three persons, all juveniles, were charged with petit theft, and were released to the custody of their parents.

Two youngsters were responsible for the report of a theft at the Pickaway Gardens at 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

According to the report, the youngsters were riding their bicycles in the area of the Pickaway Gardens, when they observed a tan colored station wagon pull into the parking lot. Two persons got out of the vehicle, and they removed dried flowers and Indian corn from in front of the building. After that they climbed back into the car and headed north on U.S. Route 23.

The two youngsters wrote down the description of the car and the license number, and gave the information to one of the children's mother, who then called the Sheriff's Department.

15 Eskimos Rescued From Ice

GJOA HAVEN, Canada (AP) — An Eskimo hunting party stranded for weeks in an icebound boat in the Canadian Arctic returned home to this Northwest Territories village to find a Halloween party in progress.

"They just came in and we welcomed them," George Porter, settlement manager at Gjoa Haven, said Sunday. "They were pretty tired."

Porter said reaction to the snowmobile rescue operation was low-key in this village of 400 on Queen Maud Gulf, 1,200 miles north of Winnipeg.

There were 15 Eskimos in the party that left in mid-September for a two-week trip. Eight were children, two of them under 2 years old.

"They're in good shape," Porter said. "These people are old-timers. They're used to things like this. It's all the same to them whether they're in Gjoa Haven or out on the land."

Cpl. Scott Wentzell of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police coordinated the rescue effort. "There are no ill effects, no injuries," he said. "Apparently the children did very well."

Wentzell said gas supplies, necessary for cooking and warmth, ran out Friday, the day the rescue party arrived. Temperatures had dipped to 20 below zero as rescuers crossed the 120 miles separating Gjoa Haven from the spot the hunters' 40-foot motorized boat became ice-bound.

Wentzell said winds also caused problems, delaying the rescue party's return by a day.

Milk, sugar and other supplies were air-dropped to the stranded Eskimos last Tuesday after three of the hunters trudged 40 miles to summon help.

Booster Cables Bring Burglary

CLEVELAND (AP) — Nobody at Cleveland's Central Police Station had a pair of booster cables handy, so an unidentified man apparently took things into his own hands.

The man walked into the police station over the weekend and said his car, parked a block away, would not start. He was told to try getting booster cables somewhere else.

Twenty minutes later, another man walked into the station and said his car, also parked a block away, would not start. He didn't ask for booster cables, though. He just reported someone had stolen the battery from his car.

ITU Strike Reported At 6 Papers

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Members of the International Typographical Union went on strike today at five newspapers in Ohio and one in West Virginia owned by Thomson Newspapers, Inc. The newspapers intended to continue to publish.

The strikes were at the Canton Repository, an afternoon newspaper with a 70,000 circulation; East Liverpool Evening Review; Marion Star; Portsmouth Times; Steubenville Herald-Star, and Fairmont (W.Va.) Times.

In Canton, 85 members of local 219 of the International Typographical Union struck over the loss of 35 to 40 jobs through the Repository's plans to computerize production, said Dave Newman, president of Local 219 of the International Typographical Union.

Don P. Hicks, assistant general manager of the Canton division of Thomson Newspapers, Inc., said publishers at each of the newspapers were willing to negotiate with the unions involved.

Members of the American Newspaper Guild, stereotypers and pressmen honored the picket lines at Canton, where a previous strike by writers halted production for several months in 1972.

Newman said wages were also an issue in the Canton strike, but that a stalemate over job security has prevented any serious negotiation on the matter of pay. He said the typographers' contract has included some form of job security provision for the past 50 years, but that the newspaper's current contract proposal omits any such provision.

The contract expired Nov. 30, 1975. Negotiations broke off in September. A federal mediator planned renewal of negotiations on Nov. 12.

slight edge but his margin was less than the 2.5 point margin of error. The Harris poll found 7 per cent still undecided; the Times-CBS survey put the figure at 10 per cent.

The paths followed by the candidates during the final days of the campaign reflected their own views of where the undecided votes are.

Both campaigned in New York with 41 electoral votes and California with 45, as well as in Ohio with 25, Texas, 26, Pennsylvania, 27, and Illinois, 26.

More than the White House is at stake in Tuesday's election.

Voters also will choose 33 senators and 435 House members, as well as 14 governors and thousands of state legislators and local officials.

The Republicans are given no chance of overturning Democratic control of the House and Senate. Thus, if Carter wins, the Democrats will be back in control of the two elected branches of the federal government for the first time since Richard M. Nixon captured the White House for the Republicans in 1968.

No one could be certain what factors might be decisive ones in the presidential contest.

The presence of former Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota in the race as an independent candidate appeared likely to drain normally Democratic votes from Carter in some states.

Ford has warned audiences in all parts of the country that Carter would raise taxes for middle income families and would press for bigger and bigger federal budgets.

Carter has said his plans for changes in tax laws are designed only to eliminate provisions that enable the wealthy to avoid payment of taxes on large amounts of income. The Democratic candidate has said he has no intention of asking for a tax increase for middle-income wage earners.

Abortion was an issue early in the campaign when first Carter and then Ford met with Catholic bishops. Both men have said they oppose abortion and the use of federal funds to pay for abortions.

But Ford said he would support a constitutional amendment that would permit states to determine whether abortions should be legal. Carter opposed any constitutional amendment on the abortion question.

The abortion issue might help Ford in some normally Democratic urban areas with large Catholic populations.

But the President's slip in his foreign policy debate with Carter when Ford said "there is no Soviet domination of Eastern Europe" may have lost him votes in the same areas.

Post-television debate surveys by The Associated Press gave Ford a narrow edge in the first debate, Carter an equally slim margin in the second and found the third a virtual tie.

The factor that may have the biggest bearing on the outcome on Tuesday is the number of Americans who vote.

Carter stressed to every audience, the importance of voting. "Every vote counts," he told a rally in San Francisco and went on to note the narrow margins by which John F. Kennedy won in 1960 and Richard Nixon prevailed in 1968.

Conventional political wisdom has it that Republicans are more likely to make a point of voting than Democrats and therefore, small turnouts tends to benefit GOP candidates.

Both campaigned in New York with 41 electoral votes and California with 45, as well as in Ohio with 25, Texas, 26, Pennsylvania, 27, and Illinois, 26.

More than the White House is at stake in Tuesday's election.

Voters also will choose 33 senators and 435 House members, as well as 14 governors and thousands of state legislators and local officials.

The Republicans are given no chance of overturning Democratic control of the House and Senate. Thus, if Carter wins, the Democrats will be back in control of the two elected branches of the federal government for the first time since Richard M. Nixon captured the White House for the Republicans in 1968.

No one could be certain what factors might be decisive ones in the presidential contest.

The presence of former Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota in the race as an independent candidate appeared likely to drain normally Democratic votes from Carter in some states. Ford has warned audiences in all parts of the country that Carter would raise taxes for middle income families and would press for bigger and bigger federal budgets.

Carter has said his plans for changes in tax laws are designed only to eliminate provisions that enable the wealthy to avoid payment of taxes on large amounts of income. The Democratic candidate has said he has no intention of asking for a tax increase for middle-income wage earners.

Abortion was an issue early in the campaign when first Carter and then Ford met with Catholic bishops. Both men have said they oppose abortion and the use of federal funds to pay for abortions.

But Ford said he would support a constitutional amendment that would permit states to determine whether abortions should be legal. Carter opposed any constitutional amendment on the abortion question.

The abortion issue might help Ford in some normally Democratic urban areas with large Catholic populations.

But the President's slip in his foreign policy debate with Carter when Ford said "there is no Soviet domination of Eastern Europe" may have lost him votes in the same areas.

Post-television debate surveys by The Associated Press gave Ford a narrow edge in the first debate, Carter an equally slim margin in the second and found the third a virtual tie.

The factor that may have the biggest bearing on the outcome on Tuesday is the number of Americans who vote.

Carter stressed to every audience, the importance of voting. "Every vote counts," he told a rally in San Francisco and went on to note the narrow margins by which John F. Kennedy won in 1960 and Richard Nixon prevailed in 1968.

Conventional political wisdom has it that Republicans are more likely to make a point of voting than Democrats and therefore, small turnouts tends to benefit GOP candidates.

TO: The Citizens of Pickaway County
FROM: Sheriff Dwight E. Radcliff
SUBJECT: Thank you for your cooperation.

In the closing hours of my re-election campaign for the important office of Sheriff of Pickaway County, I would like to take this opportunity to personally thank everyone who has worked in my behalf. I would especially like to thank those of you who have shown your support by placing my re-election signs on your property.

To those who's names appeared on the signature page advertisement in the HERALD, and to my many, many other fine supporters who have since contacted me wishing to make their names likewise not anonymous, I ask your permission to say "Thank you all for your loyal support."

For continued hard work for you, the citizens of Pickaway County, I ask for your continued support tomorrow, Tuesday November 2.

Sincerely,

Dwight E. Radcliff

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today, hesitating on the eve of the presidential election.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials eased a fraction in early trading, while gainers led losers by close to a 2-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Trading was brisk.

Analysts said investors were preoccupied with looking ahead to Tuesday's presidential election, which was generally expected to be very close.

Today's early prices included May Department Stores, up ¼ at 31½; Gulf & Western, ahead ¼ at 17, and RCA, unchanged at 25¼.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average jumped ahead 12.30 points to 964.93, extending its gain for the week to 26.18.

Advances outnumbered declines by close to a 3-1 margin on the NYSE, and the exchange's composite index rose .65 to 54.89.

Big Board volume came to 17.03 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index climbed .59 to 98.88.

A Page Of Opinion

Food From Oil

Oil riches flowing into the Mideast oil producing states are being funneled into any number of projects, from a heavy beef-up of Iranian arms to what may turn out to be some of the most expensive food in Libya.

That latter item is worth watching. With a territory three times the size of Texas, Libya is mostly desert. Most estimates up to now have claimed that only about 2 per cent of it is arable. That was not always the case. Centuries ago, the Romans among others found the Jafara plain south of Tripoli a fertile food-producing region.

With more than $7.5 billion in oil revenue coming in annually, the military rulers of Libya are determined to produce enough foodstuffs to become self-sufficient. That will take some doing. Libya presently is only self-sufficient in oranges, honey, eggs and poultry.

Over the next five years at least $4 billion will be invested in attempts to turn deserts into productive gardens. The results may be some of the most expensive crops and cattle produced in the world. But to a food-poor and oil-rich country, it seems a fair exchange.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

Thanks to some forward looking businesses and organizations who own buildings in the downtown area, it is taking on a new look, or perhaps better put, an "old" look.

What is even more encouraging is that the improvements seem to be contagious and are being made completely voluntarily. The resulting beauty and splendor "uncovered" on some of the buildings has been beyond expectations.

No one thought that the job of revitalizing the Olde Courthouse Circle area could be accomplished overnight, but with many of the residential houses being remodeled, and now with the great start on the downtown area, it looks as if it will be sooner than expected.

Keep up the good work. It has not gone by unnoticed, and it is certainly a tremendous improvement.

Dear Editor:

As a licensed professional engineer (and former nuclear engineer) and resident of Pickaway County, I would like to voice my opinions against Issue No. 6 and urge all voters to vote "no" on this issue.

I base my views on the following facts:

- (1) Nuclear power is one of the safest industries in the country.
- (2) We need the electricity produced by nuclear power to continue enjoying our high standard of living.
- (3) We need to promote nuclear power in order to get free of too great a dependence of foreign oil.
- (4) Nuclear power plants are well-designed and safely built and are already the subject of intense safety and technical reviews by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, an agency of the Federal Government.
- (5) The chances for a nuclear accident are very small and nuclear power plants already carry adequate insurance.

I believe that passage of Issue No. 6 would make the licensing of any future plants more difficult and might even prevent any further nuclear power plants in Ohio. This would not be in the best interests of either our state or our country.

I therefore, urge my friends and neighbors in Pickaway and Fairfield counties to vote "no" on Issue 6.

Thank you.
Sincerely yours,
DAVID E. GLASGOW

Dear Editor:

The forthcoming election provides an opportunity for the Citizens of Pickaway County and the City of Circleville to service their communities in a positive way.

Our system of government allows for the participation of all our citizens, and we know that the ballot box is one of the most effective for our people to express their opinions on major issues and to give direction to our local, state, and national elected representatives. The ballot box can set policy at all levels of government if the people recognize the responsibility they have to use it — not just to vote — but to vote on the basis of decisions which are made after they have studied the issues and the candidates. The ballot has to be the result of every citizen's best judgment.

Free elections have as their aim the choosing of outstanding leaders to legislate and govern for all of us. As William Penn said some 275 years ago, "Governments rather depend upon men, then men upon governments." This is just as true today in our two democracies as it was then. The caliber of our local, state and national governments is as good or as bad as the caliber of the men we have chosen to represent us.

One of the problems facing every voter at election time is the long list of names on the ballot. In order to make the right selection, the voter should know something of the men and women for whom he votes. This is particularly important at the local level, for the day to day decisions of the elected officials vitally affect the lives of each of us.

Kiwanis Club

Dear Editor:

I do not agree with all the editorials about candidates for sheriff that appeared in last Tuesday's edition of The Herald. Therefore I am writing this letter in support of John Bost, our candidate for sheriff.

John Bost has the credentials needed for the office of sheriff of Pickaway County.

He served as deputy under our present sheriff eight years plus the time he served with the Circleville Police Department.

Mr. Radcliff with the help of the commissioners has brought several thousand dollars into our county. This I agree with. This same money can be obtained by John Bost when elected. This same amount can be withdrawn by our state and federal agencies if they so desire, no matter who our sheriff would be.

With John Bost working as a deputy for eight years he knows these procedures well and would use these funds wisely for all necessary operations they are now for plus others which John feels are needed.

John Bost would also utilize the help of our State Highway Patrol. Why don't we use the highway patrol to its fullest potential? In case of an accident the patrol would be there to aid if we would but call. Our highway patrol has the authority to investigate to protect all county, township roads, all streets supported by the public. John Bost, when elected, would use the patrol and other law enforcement agencies for assisting. In this way the sheriff's department would be used in the other areas of the county which do not get the protection we experience by living near our county seat.

With John cooperating with all branches of law enforcement in our county, it would do but one thing, make our law enforcement stronger and better. I believe it is time for a change. John Bost when elected will serve us well and our sheriff's department will be strong and efficient. Your support for John Bost is needed election day.

Thank you,

Mondale Winds Up Ohio Campaigning

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The last Ohio campaign trip of 1976 by a national Democratic candidate is over, leaving Ohio in the hands of voters and the Democratic organization which will try to get them to the polls.

The Democratic candidates' campaign ended Sunday when vice presidential nominee Walter Mondale left the state after blitzing Cleveland and Canton. He urged partisan crowds to get out the vote and put Jimmy Carter in the White House.

"This election is as close as it can be," he told an overflow ethnic audience Sunday at St. George Romanian Orthodox Church in Canton. "Ohio may well decide who the next president is going to be."

In Cleveland, he addressed blacks at St. Paul's AME Zion Church, sharing the platform with Coretta King, widow of slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr.

In Canton, he shared the spotlight with Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, and Howard M. Metzger, who is locked in a struggle with Republican Sen. Robert Taft Jr. for the U.S. Senate.

"Ohio's going to be Carter country," Glenn declared. And Metzger said Ford "doesn't know what's happening to Canton," a reference to the 9 per cent unemployment there.

Mondale accused the Ford administration of being insensitive to the unemployed. "Worse by far than their policies is their inability to feel human suffering caused by those policies," he said in Cleveland.

Republican policies are "a recipe for social dynamite in America," the Minnesota senator added.

Mondale called "the loss of hope and dignity" sometimes caused by unemployment "the ultimate insult" and told the black audience in Cleveland "I say it got to stop—right now."

Rep. Louis Stokes, D-Ohio, recalling President Ford's recent visits to Cleveland, particularly to white ethnic Fleet Avenue, said "The President can go to Fleet Avenue on Tuesday if he wants to. We're going to the polls."

Arriving in Canton only hours before the President, Mondale told an airport news conference, "I would like Mr. Ford to answer how he can justify an economic policy with the highest unemployment and inflation rate in history."

"This country is dying for new leadership, a fresh start and enthusiasm in the White House."

Mondale compared the Carter campaign to that of John F. Kennedy in 1960, but failed to mention that Kennedy lost Ohio by 250,000 votes.

Rhodes Orders Welfare Probe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes said Saturday he has ordered the highway patrol to investigate possible fraud in the state Welfare Department.

He said he ordered that the probe give particular attention to the operations of the Cleveland Avenue Medical Center, Inc., and the Lynn Drugstore, both in Columbus.

The two operations lead all other medical centers and drugstores, respectively, in Ohio in Medicaid billings.

Rhodes noted that a Cleveland Plain Dealer article Saturday reported possible abuses of the welfare program by the operations.

The newspaper said the operations, which do a combined annual Medicaid business of $1.5 million, continue to flourish despite state welfare department staff findings for possible recovery of up to $300,000 in improper payments.

In May of 1860, Giuseppe Garibaldi led a force of 1,000 volunteers to Sicily to unify Italy by force. Francis II of Naples was deposed and Victor Emmanuel of Sardinia was hailed as King of Italy.

LAFF - A - DAY

"If the paid political announcement you just saw gave you a headache, try this..."

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My husband is terribly nervous. He behaves like a cat on a hot tin roof. His doctor told me that the pills he had given him were sugar pills. What benefit are they?

Mrs. M. J. A., Pa.

Dear Mrs. A.:

A "sugar pill" is known as a "placebo." The word is a direct translation from the Latin, meaning, "I will be pleasing."

Placebos have been used in the practice of medicine for centuries. They serve a very important function when the patient's symptoms seem to have no origin in actual disease.

We, in the practice of medicine, know that in most instances patients come to a doctor's office to have their symptoms explained, treated and removed.

There are times when a patient's symptoms persist and the doctor suspects they may be of emotional origin. In such instances, the doctor may prescribe a placebo in an effort to establish in his own mind the validity of the patient's complaints.

This is not a dishonest technique to fool the patient. Rather, it is a valuable tool that gives the doctor greater insight into the nature of the complaints.

The patient, too, plays a valuable role in this "sugar pill" experience. By some autophenomenon mechanism, relief from his symptoms may occur.

Some people are particularly vulnerable to the effect of placebo. It's an interesting observation that many solid personalities, unaccustomed to illness of any kind, may be the first to respond to a placebo.

Many studies have been made by physicians and scientists. Some patients who, after surgery, responded well to morphine reacted just as well, in a high percentage of cases, to a placebo.

Your husband's highly tense and nervous state may have given his doctor the suspicion that some of his symptoms are not as realistic as he believes they are. Mind you, this does not mean that your husband is not suffering from these symptoms.

His doctor, with your cooperation, is making a special effort to understand the nature of his complaints and to establish an effective way of treating them.

Apathy

By JIM BISHOP

The campaign is over. It dies shuddering and shouting. Now the people speak. It represents the last best voice of democracy, but it is a weak voice. Millions of voters remain home. The cadres of activists on one side or the other will determine the kind of government we deserve.

It isn't healthy. A century and more have come and gone since the last time the people were this angry. Herman Melville, writing of the assassination of Abraham Lincoln, said:

"There is sobbing of the strong, And a pall upon the land; But the people in their weeping Bare the iron hand: Beware the people weeping When they bare the iron hand."

Anger should bring votes. This time it brought apathy. They refused to bare the iron hand. I traveled from New York to Massachusetts to California to Florida to Nevada to the Middle West and back again. I spoke to bellmen, cops, teachers, salesmen, editors, sports figures, commentators, town councilmen, housewives, students - they were angry.

They appeared to be sickened by some nameless colossus called Washington. The words "politician" and "prostitute" became synonymous. "I am not voting," they said. "My vote doesn't mean a damn thing." Multiply these voices by millions and millions and you learn that the balance of power remained silent.

The campaign itself was shoddy. The nominees were, at times, venomous with invective. They slashed at each other as though mutual indictments would win votes. They promised and promised as though we had not been down that road before.

No matter which man wins, he had better do something to restore our faith in the Presidency, the Congress and the Courts. One was cute with candor, the small-town cherub who decries Washington but wants to go there. The other did not wish to acknowledge that he had been appointed by Richard Nixon, the only president to accept a pardon without acknowledging the crime.

Mr. Ford brayed that he executed his duties by veto. Whatever was wrong with us and our nation was the fault of a Democratic Congress. On the other hand, he begged us not to send Mr. Carter to the White House because he would be a Democratic president who might get along with a Democratic Congress.

Little by little, we learned less and less. They debated. The press faulted the President because he had a habit of standing on his tongue. There is nothing in the Constitution which says that a president must be a first-class orator.

In all the years Mr. Ford was in Congress, no one accused him of being an intellectual. It was Thomas O'Neill (D-Mass.) who said he cherished Ford's friendship over the years, but stated that one has to know Jerry well to appreciate how little he knows.

It was, at best, a campaign of mistakes. Mr. Carter, who bragged about being unknown until the salty spring days of the primaries, sat for a long heart-to-heart talk with a salacious magazine, Playboy.

No one asked him to use a gutter word like "screw." He did it. They quoted it. He abashed himself. Suspicion of the man deepened as he explained and reexplained how he became a reborn Christian.

Some of what Carter said was intended as sarcasm. The press quoted it straight. For a time, the reporters on both planes seemed determined to tear the candidates down. They sensed the disenchantment of the people and tossed their oratorical curves at press conferences.

Jobs. Inflation. Peace. Ford said he had them under control. Carter smiled his enigmatic grin and said he could give us more jobs, lower inflation and a continued peace. Women almost ruined his rallies with signs crying for anti-abortion laws.

It might have been a better campaign with Ronald Reagan. Our apathy might have been stirred by his firm position on issues. Who knows? If we had him we might also have had Hubert Humphrey as the other nominee. The Senator would, as events revealed, have been a weak reed indeed.

Somewhere near San Clemente I see a man sitting in front of a television set. He watches the candidates and listens to the mocking words of pseudo-grandeur. He laughs heartily. That man, I suspect, hasn't laughed in a long, long time...

VIENNA (AP) — Esterhazy Palace in Eisenstadt, Austria, will house a large-scale exhibition portraying the life and period of composer Joseph Haydn.

Cultural institutions throughout Europe will contribute to the display, scheduled to open in 1979. It will be jointly funded by Austria's Ministry of Science and Research and the provincial governments of the Burgenland, Lower Austria and Vienna.

The palace is where Haydn was appointed assistant director of music to Prince Paul Anton Esterhazy in 1761. Five years later the composer was named director of music, remaining in that post until 1790.

A Page Of Opinion

Oil riches flowing into the Mideast oil producing states are being funneled into any number of projects, from a heavy beef-up of Iranian arms to what may turn out to be some of the most expensive food in Libya.

That latter item is worth watching. With a territory three times the size of Texas, Libya is mostly desert. Most estimates up to now have claimed that only about 2 per cent of it is arable. That was not always the case. Centuries ago, the Romans among others found the Jafara plain south of Tripoli a fertile food-producing region.

With more than $7.5 billion in oil revenue coming in annually, the military rulers of Libya are determined to produce enough foodstuffs to become self-sufficient. That will take some doing. Libya presently is only self-sufficient in oranges, honey, eggs and poultry.

Over the next five years at least $4 billion will be invested in attempts to turn deserts into productive gardens. The results may be some of the most expensive crops and cattle produced in the world. But to a food-poor and oil-rich country, it seems a fair exchange.

Dear Editor:

Thanks to some forward looking businesses and organizations who own buildings in the downtown area, it is taking on a new look, or perhaps better put, an "old" look.

What is even more encouraging is that the improvements seem to be contagious and are being made completely voluntarily. The resulting beauty and splendor "uncovered" on some of the buildings has been beyond expectations.

No one thought that the job of revitalizing the Olde Courthouse Circle area could be accomplished overnight, but with many of the residential houses being remodeled, and now with the great start on the downtown area, it looks as if it will be sooner than expected.

Keep up the good work. It has not gone by unnoticed, and it is certainly a tremendous improvement.

Dear Editor:

As a licensed professional engineer (and former nuclear engineer) and resident of Pickaway County, I would like to voice my opinions against Issue No. 6 and urge all voters to vote "no" on this issue.

I base my views on the following facts:

- (1) Nuclear power is one of the safest industries in the country.
- (2) We need the electricity produced by nuclear power to continue enjoying our high standard of living.
- (3) We need to promote nuclear power in order to get free of too great a dependence of foreign oil.
- (4) Nuclear power plants are well-designed and safely built and are already the subject of intense safety and technical reviews by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, an agency of the Federal Government.
- (5) The chances for a nuclear accident are very small and nuclear power plants already carry adequate insurance.

I believe that passage of Issue No. 6 would make the licensing of any future plants more difficult and might even prevent any further nuclear power plants in Ohio. This would not be in the best interests of either our state or our country.

I therefore, urge my friends and neighbors in Pickaway and Fairfield counties to vote "no" on Issue 6.

Thank you.

They'll Do It Every Time

Dear Editor:

The forthcoming election provides an opportunity for the Citizens of Pickaway County and the City of Circleville to service their communities in a positive way.

Our system of government allows for the participation of all our citizens, and we know that the ballot box is one of the most effective for our people to express their opinions on major issues and to give direction to our local, state, and national elected representatives. The ballot box can set policy at all levels of government if the people recognize the responsibility they have to use it — not just to vote — but to vote on the basis of decisions which are made after they have studied the issues and the candidates. The ballot has to be the result of every citizen's best judgment.

Free elections have as their aim the choosing of outstanding leaders to legislate and govern for all of us. As William Penn said some 275 years ago, "Governments rather depend upon men, then men upon governments." This is just as true today in our two democracies as it was then. The caliber of our local, state and national governments is as good or as bad as the caliber of the men we have chosen to represent us.

One of the problems facing every voter at election time is the long list of names on the ballot. In order to make the right selection, the voter should know something of the men and women for whom he votes. This is particularly important at the local level, for the day to day decisions of the elected officials vitally affect the lives of each of us.

peared in last Tuesday's edition of The Herald. Therefore I am writing this letter in support of John Bost, our candidate for sheriff.

John Bost has the credentials needed for the office of sheriff of Pickaway County.

He served as deputy under our present sheriff eight years plus the time he served with the Circleville Police Department.

Mr. Radcliff with the help of the commissioners has brought several thousand dollars into our county. This I agree with. This same money can be obtained by John Bost when elected. This same amount can be withdrawn by our state and federal agencies if they so desire, no matter who our sheriff would be.

With John Bost working as a deputy for eight years he knows these procedures well and would use these funds wisely for all necessary operations they are now for plus others which John feels are needed.

John Bost would also utilize the help of our State Highway Patrol. Why don't we use the highway patrol to its fullest potential? In case of an accident the patrol would be there to aid if we would but call. Our highway patrol has the authority to investigate to protect all county, township roads, all streets supported by the public. Miss Beverly Thompson, Carl Feldkircher Are Wed

MR. AND MRS. CARL ANTHONY FELDKIRCHER

Miss Beverly Diana Thompson and Mr. Carl Anthony Feldkircher exchanged wedding vows at noon, Sept. 25, at St. Joseph Catholic Church of Circleville.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Thompson, 551 E. Mound Street, Circleville and the granddaughter of the late Rev. and Mrs. George W. Thompson, Amanda, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Feldkircher, 1520 Greenleaf Circle, Westlake, were married in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Father Frank Meagher.

The altar was adorned with candelabra and arrangements of orange and gold pom mums and yellow gladioli. The pews were marked with dried flower arrangements of orange, gold and brown wheat.

Mrs. Mary Ann Carle, organist and Mrs. Eleanor Snyder, vocalist, presented a program of music preceding the ceremony. Miss Snyder sang, "Wedding Song," "Theme From Romeo and Juliet," and "We've Only Just Begun."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal length gown of white silk organza with long sheer fitted sleeves and an empire waist. The fitted bodice was trimmed with lace motifs and a keyhole neckline was accented with an array of Venice lace. The A-line skirt featured lace motifs and flowed to fullness at the back to form a chapel length train. The bottom of the gown was encircled with a deep, circular ruffle. Her Camelot cap of Venice lace held a chapel length veil of silk illusion trimmed with lace. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white sweetheart roses, miniature carnations and baby's breath. She wore a pearl necklace and pearl and diamond earrings, a gift from the groom.

Mrs. Susan Marshall, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. She was attired in a floor length spice knit halter gown. It was styled with a cameo neckline featuring vertical straps at the yoke and a matching long sleeved jacket. She carried a nosegay of orange, gold and yellow carnations with matching streamers and baby's breath.

Bridemaids were Mrs. Jean Scrivens, Miss Vicki Feldkircher, and Miss Joan Feldkircher, sisters of the groom, and Mrs. Mark Ralston. Their gowns were styled as the honor attendant and they carried cascade bouquets. Matching flowers were worn in the attendant's hair.

Miss Caroline Marshall, niece of the bride, served as flower girl. She was attired in an ivory floor length gown trimmed with lace and brown velvet. She carried a wicker basket with an arrangement matching the other attendants. Master Matthew Pellington, nephew of the groom, was ring bearer.

Mr. John Gunderman served as best man and groomsmen were Mr. Jeff Marshall, Mr. Craig Scrivens, Mr. Doug Newcomb, and Mr. Mike Griffith.

The bride's mother was attired in a formal length brown silk gown and accented with white trim and a matching cape. Mrs. Feldkircher wore a green silk formal gown with a V-neckline, empire waist and accented with a pearl cluster pendant. Both mothers wore cymbidium orchid corsages.

Special guests included Dr. Robert and Dr. Ruth Steen of Delaware, Ohio and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Anderson of Cleveland.

A reception at Ilonka's Provincial House in Columbus followed the ceremony. The four tiered wedding cake featured the traditional bride and groom and was surrounded with baby's breath and candelabra. A formal dinner was served and a trio provided music for dancing.

For their wedding trip to the Bahamas, the bride wore a gray suit trimmed in black velvet with a matching black velvet vest and accessories. Upon their return, the couple will be at home in Westerville.

The bride a 1969 graduate of Circleville High School, attended The Ohio State University and is an administrative assistant in the firm of Coopers and Lybrand, Columbus.

The bridegroom graduated from St. Edward's High School in 1971 and graduated from The Ohio State University in June, 1976. He is employed as a manufacturer's representative with Feldkircher-Budnick and Associates, Inc., Cleveland.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at Pickaway Arms, the evening preceding the wedding.

Prior to the wedding, the bride was entertained with a shower given by Mrs. Gene Feldkircher, Miss Vicki Feldkircher, Miss Joan Feldkircher and Mrs. Craig Scrivens.

Area Residents Entertained In Concord, Mass.

Thomas L. and Vicki L. Rhoades Mountain, former residents of Circleville, are now residing in Swanton, Vt. Before their transfer they were in Concord, Mass., where Mr. Mountain served as assistant manager of the Great Meadows National Wildlife Refuge and Mrs. Mountain worked as office manager of the Harding Insurance Agency, Inc.

Mr. Mountain is currently working with the Missisquoi National Wildlife Refuge as manager. Mrs. Mountain is employed as office manager in the insurance division at Maurice P. Chavlier Insurance and Real Estate, Inc. in Swanton.

During the bicentennial celebration in Concord, Mass., the Mountains were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Wayne H. Rhoades and children, Wayne and Kay Dee; Mrs. Delores L. Owens of Circleville, and Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Rhoades of Laurelville.

They toured Concord, Lexington, Boston, Salem and many other historical and scenic sites in that area and the surrounding states.

Circleville BPW Adopts Projects

The Circleville Business and Professional Women's Club met for a dessert course at the Pickaway Arms on Thursday and listened as the guest speaker Mrs. Jean Droste explained the content of the issues to be voted on during the November election.

Mrs. Droste, a representative of the Women's Voters Information Organization also fielded questions from the group and noted the publication of her group at each election time prints the ideas of the various candidates for the benefit of the voting public.

Margaret Remy, program chairman also introduced Miss Martine Widmar, a senior in the local high school who spoke about her experiences at Girls' State this past summer. She emphasized the educational advantages as well as the fun aspects as the girls are trained in the mechanics of government.

The president, Louise Hill, conducted a business meeting which resulted in the clubs adoption of three projects. The first, being the reestablishment of the senior high school Girl Graduation Reception to be held in April under the chairmanship of Emma Curlett. All senior girls in the county will be invited. The annual Baby Sitters' course is in the planning stage and will be announced. Also a shoppers' mini-park area is being planned as a service project as well as a memorial to the club's charter members.

The next meeting will be November 18 at the Pickaway Arms.

Ashville Jr. Women Conduct Workshop

The Ashville Junior Women's Club held a combination meeting and workshop Oct. 25 at the home of Barb Valentine.

After a brief meeting club members spent the evening preparing for the upcoming bazaar on Nov. 21.

It was decided to prepare a food basket for a needy family this Thanksgiving. Members were asked to have canned goods at Jo Ellen Deal's before Nov. 20.

A final workshop will be held Nov. 1 at the home of Barb Valentine at 7:30 p.m.

AVAC Plans Forum On Arthritis For Patients, Families

The Pickaway County Arthritis Volunteer Action Committee met Thursday, at the Senior Citizens Center. The meeting was conducted by Dee Dawson, acting chairperson.

Robert Lincoln of the Central Ohio Arthritis Foundation in Columbus coordinated plans for the Forum to be held 8 p.m. Nov. 8, at the 4-H and Grange Building. Dr. William Myers will be moderator for the program. Doctors and specialists in arthritis will speak about their areas of interest. Questions will be welcomed from the audience.

Discussion was held about how best to advertise this forum so that individuals and families with arthritis problems can be reached. Health classes at the county schools will be contacted about using arthritis information. Carol Tinney will distribute posters to various places around the county. News-media can be very helpful in advertising the forum. A spot on the local TV cable was suggested. Carol Tinney will contact the Roundtown Players about using their marquee for a message about the forum.

Parking for handicapped people and curb cuts to assist them were discussed. The committee will voice their views to various people who have influence in these areas.

Martha Wiggins Speaker For Jaycee Wives Club

The October meeting of the Circleville Jaycee Wives Club was held recently at the home of Mrs. Pat Reeser, 993 Lynwood Ave.

Mrs. Martha Wiggins of PICCA spoke to the club about the Senior Food and Fellowship program.

Revisions to the constitution were discussed and approved. After the meeting a dessert course was served by co-hostess Mrs. Rosie Marshall. The club members worked on macrame jewelry for the remainder of the evening.

Before you preheat the oven make sure the oven racks are in the proper place. For example, for yeast-bread loaves and pies you may want to place the rack below the center of the oven.

School Districts Seek Voter OKs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — At least six Ohio school districts are depending on voter approval of new tax money in Tuesday's election to avert shutdowns before the end of the year.

They are among 172 districts seeking additional tax levies to support school operations.

Perhaps the most critical vote is in the city of Toledo, where school officials are attempting to pass a 6.2-mill levy after two previous rejections by voters.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Give A Short Toot To Show Your Love

DEAR ABBY: I don't think loving the Lord is anything to joke about, so when I saw this bumper sticker on the car ahead of me that said, "HONK IF YOU LOVE JESUS," I honked my horn. I guess maybe I over did it because the next thing I knew I had a motorcycle cop alongside me, asking to see my driver's license. I showed him it fast and asked what I did wrong, and he asked me why I was honking my horn.

When I said, "Because I love Jesus," he asked me if I had been drinking.

Well, Abby, he didn't give me a ticket; he just chewed me out for disturbing the peace, and told me not to do it again.

My question: Was I wrong to honk? LOVES JESUS

DEAR ABBY: Maybe a short toot would have been enough to let Jesus know you love him, but in the future you'd better do your heavy praying in church.

Brown Sees Record Vote Turnout

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Elderly voters in Ohio, realizing their power as a group, will flex their political muscle in Tuesday's election, says an official of the Commission on Aging.

The secretary of state, meanwhile, predicts a record turnout of 61 per cent at the polls.

Election officials say absentee voting has increased because the state has made it easier for the elderly, handicapped, polling place workers, college students and others away from their home counties to vote.

Today was the last chance to apply for an absentee ballot.

With 1.5 million persons at least 60 years old in Ohio, the elderly represent a significant voting bloc, according to James Alexander, assistant director of the Commission on Aging.

"There is no apathy among the elderly in voting," he said. "They're much more political now. In 1965 (when the forerunner of the aging commission was formed), I don't think the elderly were aware of the power they had. They are much more aware of their role as advocates."

Changes in the absentee voting laws, which made it easier for the elderly to vote, could be significant in this election, Alexander predicted.

The most notable change eliminated notarization and medical certification requirements.

If the levy is defeated again, the Department of Education has authorized the district to close on Dec. 3, almost three weeks before the start of Christmas vacation for 55,600 students.

Toledo, or any other district in similar straits, could reopen on Jan. 2 when additional state money automatically becomes available.

The earliest closing date certified by the state is Nov. 10 for the North Union Local District in Union County. There, voters are being asked for 9.8 additional mills of tax to finance operations for a one-year period.

Four other districts could close before the first of the year if levies are not passed: Groveport-Madison Local (Franklin County), 11.5 mills; Colonel Crawford (Crawford County), 6.4 mills; Union Scioto Local, (Ross County), 8 mills and Seneca East (Seneca County), 5 mills.

The largest request for new tax money, according to a compilation of the Ohio Education Association, is in Lake County. The Fairport Harbor District is asking 20 mills for operations over the next five years.

Columbus City District is attempting to pass a 6.2-mill additional levy and a 14.6-mill renewal. The city of Canton has a 7.5-mill new tax request on the ballot in Stark County.

The Fremont City District in Sandusky County has a $10.3 million bond issue before voters, the largest in the state, for additions and improvements to existing facilities.

A $4.75 million bond issue is on the ballot in Pickaway County for the Teays Valley Local District. Tri-Valley Local in Muskingum County has a $4.6 million issue and Strongsville City District in Cuyahoga County has a $4.4 million bond request.

Dear Jim:

As November 2 approaches, I would like to wish you the best of luck in your campaign for Pickaway County Prosecuting Attorney. I look forward to working together for Ohio in the years ahead.

The election this fall is one of the most important of recent times. The results, at all levels of government, will determine the course America takes as we enter our third century. We need effective leadership, and that leadership must come from the Court House as well as from the White House.

I know you will be working very hard in the closing days of the campaign, and I sincerely hope you are successful. We have an opportunity to forge an effective team from the top of the ticket to the bottom, and I believe that team, working together can make real our promise as a nation.

Best regards and good luck.

Sincerely,

John Glenn

School Districts Seek Voter OKs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — At least six Ohio school districts are depending on voter approval of new tax money in Tuesday's election to avert shutdowns before the end of the year.

They are among 172 districts seeking additional tax levies to support school operations.

Perhaps the most critical vote is in the city of Toledo, where school officials are attempting to pass a 6.2-mill levy after two previous rejections by voters.

If the levy is defeated again, the Department of Education has authorized the district to close on Dec. 3, almost three weeks before the start of Christmas vacation for 55,600 students.

Toledo, or any other district in similar straits, could reopen on Jan. 2 when additional state money automatically becomes available.

The earliest closing date certified by the state is Nov. 10 for the North Union Local District in Union County. There, voters are being asked for 9.8 additional mills of tax to finance operations for a one-year period.

Four other districts could close before the first of the year if levies are not passed: Groveport-Madison Local (Franklin County), 11.5 mills; Colonel Crawford (Crawford County), 6.4 mills; Union Scioto Local, (Ross County), 8 mills and Seneca East (Seneca County), 5 mills.

The largest request for new tax money, according to a compilation of the Ohio Education Association, is in Lake County. The Fairport Harbor District is asking 20 mills for operations over the next five years.

Columbus City District is attempting to pass a 6.2-mill additional levy and a 14.6-mill renewal. The city of Canton has a 7.5-mill new tax request on the ballot in Stark County.

The Fremont City District in Sandusky County has a $10.3 million bond issue before voters, the largest in the state, for additions and improvements to existing facilities.

A $4.75 million bond issue is on the ballot in Pickaway County for the Teays Valley Local District. Tri-Valley Local in Muskingum County has a $4.6 million issue and Strongsville City District in Cuyahoga County has a $4.4 million bond request.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Give A Short Toot To Show Your Love

DEAR ABBY: I don't think loving the Lord is anything to joke about, so when I saw this bumper sticker on the car ahead of me that said, "HONK IF YOU LOVE JESUS," I honked my horn. I guess maybe I over did it because the next thing I knew I had a motorcycle cop alongside me, asking to see my driver's license. I showed him it fast and asked what I did wrong, and he asked me why I was honking my horn.

When I said, "Because I love Jesus," he asked me if I had been drinking.

Well, Abby, he didn't give me a ticket; he just chewed me out for disturbing the peace, and told me not to do it again.

My question: Was I wrong to honk?

LOVES JESUS

DEAR LOVES: Maybe a short toot would have been enough to let Jesus know you love him, but in the future you'd better do your heavy praying in church.

Brown Sees Record Vote Turnout

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Elderly voters in Ohio, realizing their power as a group, will flex their political muscle in Tuesday's election, says an official of the Commission on Aging.

The secretary of state, meanwhile, predicts a record turnout of 61 per cent at the polls.

Election officials say absentee voting has increased because the state has made it easier for the elderly, handicapped, polling place workers, college students and others away from their home counties to vote.

Today was the last chance to apply for an absentee ballot.

With 1.5 million persons at least 60 years old in Ohio, the elderly represent a significant voting bloc, according to James Alexander, assistant director of the Commission on Aging.

"There is no apathy among the elderly in voting," he said. "They're much more political now. In 1965 (when the forerunner of the aging commission was formed), I don't think the elderly were aware of the power they had. They are much more aware of their role as advocates."

Changes in the absentee voting laws, which made it easier for the elderly to vote, could be significant in this election, Alexander predicted.

The most notable change eliminated notarization and medical certification requirements.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a gal, nearly 20, and a sophomore in college.

Last summer I met a kid at the beach. (I'll call him Brian.) We dug each other right away and have been going together ever since. (We're really in love.)

Brian said he was 18, and I told him I was also 18. He's 6 feet tall, weighs 175, is very well built and LOOKS 18. I'm small and have always looked younger than my age.

Brian dropped out of high school to take a construction job until the Navy calls him for training for some special kind of job.

Abby, I accidentally saw his driver's license and learned that Brian is only 16 years old! When I told him I knew, he said he hated lying to me, but was afraid I wouldn't date him if I knew his right age.

Then I told him my right age and he said it didn't matter. Do you think he's too young for me? Now that I know he's only 16, I feel that he is, but before then, I didn't. We've even talked about marriage.

AGE DIFFERENCE

DEAR DIFFERENCE: If you didn't feel that Brian was too young for you until you accidentally found out, you're probably well matched, regardless of your ages. But for your sake as well as his, defer marriage until his future is more clearly defined.

DEAR ABBY: My son is married to a girl who doesn't like to cook. They brag that in the two years they've been married they haven't eaten anything but breakfast at home-and on Sundays they usually go out for Sunday brunch! They both work and don't have any kids (thank the good Lord, or they'd be dragging the kids out to eat every night) but I think it's a disgrace the way they live in restaurants and drive-ins.

I once expressed my opinion on that subject, and they both gave me an argument about how much money they "saved" by eating out because groceries were so expensive.

I'll leave it to you, Abby. Are they right or are they wrong?

HIS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: As long as they aren't asking me (or you) to pick up the tab, it's none of my (or your) business.

Janet had just paid her bus fare when the driver, having already started forward, slammed suddenly on the brakes. Thrown against the coin box, Janet suffered cuts and bruises.

Later, in a court action, she demanded damages from the bus company. But the company protested: "A bus ride is never perfectly smooth. Jerks and lurches have to be expected."

"Not this kind," retorted Janet. "Their driver was tailgating the car ahead. That's the only reason he had to stop so sharply."

Janet's point was enough to win the case. The court said bus passengers should not have to endure a rough ride that is caused by the driver's negligent driving.

In another sudden-stop case, however, the injured passenger had no luck with his claim. This time a rascally schoolboy had tossed a snowball through the open bus window, hitting the driver on the head.

The court said halting the bus in these circumstances was what "any person of ordinary prudence" was likely to have done. With no negligence on the part of the driver, the court could see no grounds for holding the company liable.

Furthermore, the passenger too has a duty to be careful.

One woman rider, injured as the result of a quick stop, had been stepping backward through the aisle of the bus while she carried on a conversation with a friend. Although there was a handrail along the aisle, she had not bothered to hold on.

These facts came out in court when she filed a damage suit against the bus company. Rejecting her claim, the court said she herself was guilty of negligence for disregarding the common sense rules of safety.

GOP Campaign Aides Obstructing Mails?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service is ordering local postal officials to ignore advice from Republican campaign aides that misrepresents a federal court ruling.

In letters and telephone calls, the GOP staffers have told local postal officials that an injunction forbids delivery of campaign literature mailed at the nonprofit rate, postal sources said Friday. However, there is no such injunction.

The nonprofit rate, considerably cheaper than other ways of mailing political literature, is used heavily by labor unions in support of Democratic candidates.

Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar has sent a message to postal officials around the country instructing them to ignore the letters and telephone calls.

A Postal Service attorney said the matter is of concern because "interfering with the mail is a very serious business, a criminal offense."

The law on obstruction of mail says: "Whoever knowingly and willfully obstructs or retards the passage of the mail, or any carrier or conveyance carrying the mail, shall be fined not more than $100 or imprisoned not more than six months or both."

The Postal Service lawyer doubted there would be any prosecution in this case because no mail was delayed as a result of the letters and calls to postal officials.

Contacts with the postal officials in New Jersey, Indiana and Missouri were made by campaign representatives of President Ford, the source said. In addition, a call to the Postal Service regional headquarters in San Francisco was made by an official in the campaign of Harrison Schmidt, Republican senatorial candidate in New Mexico, sources said.

The Associated Press obtained copies of letters by Ford representatives to postmasters in Trenton, N.J., and Indianapolis, Ind.

When read one of the letters, Ford campaign spokesman Peter Teeley acknowledged that "the person who sent that letter is misinformed."

Teeley said there was no suggestion by the Ford committee headquarters in Washington to its state units to

However, the executive director of the Ford campaign in New Jersey, Tony Cicatiello, gave another version. Cicatiello said the Ford headquarters "informed us of the injunction and said it might be worth our while to inform the postal officials."

Dear Citizens of Pickaway County,

Tomorrow, November 2, 1976, you will be making choices between candidates on the National, State and Local levels. It is at the local level that you have direct contact with the person you elect. Your vote is important!

I want to be your Pickaway County Prosecuting Attorney. As your Assistant Prosecuting Attorney I performed all the civil and criminal duties required of the Prosecutor.

I worked hard to establish a good record of which I am proud. Criminally, I consistently won convictions. Civilly, I provided prompt, courteous and legally accurate answers. Law enforcement officers, other elected officials and the public relied on my advice. These same people helped me win the Democratic primary in June.

Legal Experience makes the difference. My family and I seek and would deeply appreciate your support November 2nd.

Sincerely,

Janet had just paid her bus fare when the driver, having already started forward, slammed suddenly on the brakes. Thrown against the coin box, Janet suffered cuts and bruises. Later, in a court action, she demanded damages from the bus company. But the company protested: "A bus ride is never perfectly smooth. Jerks and lurches have to be expected."

"Not this kind," retorted Janet. "Their driver was tailgating the car ahead. That's the only reason he had to stop so sharply."

Janet's point was enough to win the case. The court said bus passengers should not have to endure a rough ride that is caused by the driver's negligent driving.

In another sudden-stop case, however, the injured passenger had no luck with his claim. This time a rascally schoolboy had tossed a snowball through the open bus window, hitting the driver on the head.

The court said halting the bus in these circumstances was what "any person of ordinary prudence" was likely to have done. With no negligence on the part of the driver, the court could see no grounds for holding the company liable.

Furthermore, the passenger too has a duty to be careful.

One woman rider, injured as the result of a quick stop, had been stepping backward through the aisle of the bus while she carried on a conversation with a friend. Although there was a handrail along the aisle, she had not bothered to hold on.

These facts came out in court when she filed a damage suit against the bus company. Rejecting her claim, the court said she herself was guilty of negligence for disregarding the common sense rules of safety.

GOP Campaign Aides Obstructing Mails?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service is ordering local postal officials to ignore advice from Republican campaign aides that misrepresents a federal court ruling.

In letters and telephone calls, the GOP staffers have told local postal officials that an injunction forbids delivery of campaign literature mailed at the nonprofit rate, postal sources said Friday. However, there is no such injunction.

The nonprofit rate, considerably cheaper than other ways of mailing political literature, is used heavily by labor unions in support of Democratic candidates.

Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar has sent a message to postal officials around the country instructing them to ignore the letters and telephone calls.

A Postal Service attorney said the matter is of concern because "interfering with the mail is a very serious business, a criminal offense."

The law on obstruction of mail says: "Whoever knowingly and willfully obstructs or retards the passage of the mail, or any carrier or conveyance carrying the mail, shall be fined not more than $100 or imprisoned not more than six months or both."

The Postal Service lawyer doubted there would be any prosecution in this case because no mail was delayed as a result of the letters and calls to postal officials.

Contacts with the postal officials in New Jersey, Indiana and Missouri were made by campaign representatives of President Ford, the source said. In addition, a call to the Postal Service regional headquarters in San Francisco was made by an official in the campaign of Harrison Schmidt, Republican senatorial candidate in New Mexico, sources said.

The Associated Press obtained copies of letters by Ford representatives to postmasters in Trenton, N.J., and Indianapolis, Ind.

When read one of the letters, Ford campaign spokesman Peter Teeley acknowledged that "the person who sent that letter is misinformed."

Teeley said there was no suggestion by the Ford committee headquarters in Washington to its state units to

Tomorrow, November 2, 1976, you will be making choices between candidates on the National, State and Local levels. It is at the local level that you have direct contact with the person you elect. Your vote is important!

I want to be your Pickaway County Prosecuting Attorney. As your Assistant Prosecuting Attorney I performed all the civil and criminal duties required of the Prosecutor.

I worked hard to establish a good record of which I am proud. Criminal-ly, I consistently won convictions. Civilly, I provided prompt, courteous and legally accurate answers. Law enforcement officers, other elected officials and the public relied on my advice. These same people helped me win the Democratic primary in June.

Legal Experience makes the difference. My family and I seek and would deeply appreciate your support November 2nd.

Computer Card Voting Making Inroads

By KAY BARTLETT
AP News Features Writer
The Vatican still sends up white smoke, Congress still answers a roll call, but when the Great American Public chooses between Jerry Ford and Jimmy Carter, 15 to 20 per cent will pick up a stylus and punch a hole in a yellow computer card that cannot be folded, spindled or mutilated, as IBM taught us long ago.

Computer card voting is making inroads into those two other traditional American voting methods — the old-

The computer card system — legal in 35 states — was invented in 1962 by Joseph P. Harris, a political scientist, and used in the 1964 presidential in five counties — two in Georgia, two in California and one in Oregon.

The most popular of several punch card systems is known as Votomatic Vote Recorder. The voter enters a booth and inserts his punch card in the Votomatic Vote Recorder, a table-top device that helps guide the voter in punching out the squares alongside the candidates of his or her choice.

Soft Drinks, Beer Cheaper In Bottles

WASHINGTON (AP) — A soft drink in a refillable bottle costs an average of five cents less than in a throwaway bottle or can. Beer in returnable containers costs $2 a case less than a case of throwaways.

Those are the key findings of a 28-city survey conducted by the League of Women Voters and announced today by the Environmental Protection Agency.

The study provides further ammunition for groups seeking to ban throwaway bottles and cans to save energy and protect the environment. In some states and localities, voters will be asked to decide whether to adopt laws or constitutional amendments designed to discourage throwaway containers either through outright bans or economic incentives. The issue is expected to be hotly contested in Congress next year.

The League of Women Voters found that a six-pack of soft drinks in 7-to 16-ounce refillable bottles costs about 30 cents less than the same size of throwaway containers. The biggest saving potential is for users of 32-ounce soft drinks: refillables cost an average of 16.8 cents less than throwaways.

Of 37 direct comparisons, all but one found refillable bottles were cheaper. The 37th, at a market in San Francisco, had a 28-ounce refillable bottle of ginger ale at the same price as a disposable.

The biggest price spread between the two types of containers was found in Roseville, Minn., where a quart of 7-Up in a refillable bottle was 66.7 per cent cheaper than in a throwaway.

Nationwide, the savings per refillable ranged from one to 10 cents per container of up to 16 ounces when purchased in six or eight-packs. The range on quart bottles was from 14 to 18 cents.

The survey showed that a beer drinker could expect to spend from 30 cents to $2 a case less for beer purchased in refillable containers. The saving for premium beer would be slightly less.

However, the League found that beer in refillables is available in only a few areas. An in-depth survey of the metropolitan Washington area found refillable beer bottles available at 37.5 per cent of stores in the city, 38.4 per cent in suburban Virginia and 20.6 per cent of outlets in suburban Maryland.

By contrast, the survey found refillable bottles of soft drinks generally available across the United States, although in some areas there is a limit on sizes and flavors.

Earlier this month, a report commissioned by the Federal Energy Administration concluded that banning disposable bottles and cans could cut the beverage industry's energy needs by 44 per cent, saving the equivalent of 81,000 barrels of oil per day.

Abel Backs Carter Bid

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Presidential candidate Jimmy Carter promises to be an active president in contrast to a doingth Ford Administration, the leader of the United Steelworkers of America says.

I.W. Abel, whose union represents 1.4 million workers, told the Greater Canton AFL-CIO Council Friday night that "there should be no doubt about the outcome of the election" next week.

"President Ford is running on his record—if that's what you call it—for the last two years," Abel said. "A close look at that record should convince anyone—except the staunchest of Republicans—that he should be overwhelmingly rejected by the voters...."

Democratic challenger Jimmy Carter, on the other hand, "holds out to the voters of Ohio and America the promise of a president who will be an active president; who will lead; who will be responsive to the needs of the nation and its people," Abel said.

Strike Hurts Ford Profits

DETROIT (AP) — Due to a nationwide strike, Ford Motor Co.'s profits fell more than $141 million in the third quarter to hand the firm its worst showing for the period in nine years.

Ford said Friday it earned only $42 million in the July-September period because of the month-long United Auto Workers walkout, which shut down company operations on Sept. 14.

Profits fell 25 per cent from $56 million a year ago — when the industry was climbing out of a deep recession — and were the lowest for a third quarter since 1967, when Ford lost $74 million due to a 66-day UAW strike.

Had it not been for the latest walkout, the company said, it would have set a new thirdquarter earnings mark of at least $183 million, easily surpassing the record $102 million made in 1965.

Ford said the strike cut planned North American vehicle output in the quarter by 186,000 units, with a factory value of $930 million. The walkout, which trimmed another 237,000 units from October production, also will reduce fourthquarter earnings, Ford added.

Earlier this week, General Motors and Chrysler reported record profits for both the third quarter and first nine months of 1976, another sign of the industry's robust recovery from a two-year slump.

NEW YORK (AP) — How do you name one of the world's biggest offshore oil developments?

Geologists working on Phillips Petroleum Co.'s project in the Norwegian sector of the North Sea found a solution.

Each sector was assigned a letter. As maps were developed, names coded to each letter were required. The geologists decided to use the name of a fish or shellfish for each letter, starting with amberjack, bass, cod, etc.

3 Ohioans Killed In Arizona Crash

YUMA, Ariz. (AP) — Three Gahanna, Ohio, residents were killed Friday night in a two-car collision 18 miles north of here, authorities said.

The Highway Patrol identified the victims as Wayne Edwin Upperman, 23, his wife, Ruby Faye, 19, and the couple's nine-month-old son, Wayne Eugene.

A car driven by Rosario Cuellar, 22, of Corpus Christi, Tex., left the road but struck the Upperman vehicle when it returned to the highway, officers said.

Cuellar and a passenger, Ernest Dean Page, 22, Lincoln Park, Mich., were treated for minor injuries, the Patrol said.

The computer card system — legal in 35 states — was invented in 1962 by Joseph P. Harris, a political scientist, and used in the 1964 presidential in five counties — two in Georgia, two in California and one in Oregon.

The most popular of several punch card systems is known as Votomatic Vote Recorder. The voter enters a booth and inserts his punch card in the Votomatic Vote Recorder, a table-top device that helps guide the voter in punching out the squares alongside the candidates of his or her choice.
Votomatic Vote Recorder does not count the ballots. They must be taken to a computer, usually one leased for election day. Depending upon the size of the computer used, the ballot cards can be counted at a pokey 1,800 an hour or they can be speeded out at a rate of 240,000 an hour.

The votes cannot necessarily be counted faster than those registered on the traditional lever voting machines. But the Votomatic, designed and manufactured by Computer Elections Systems, Inc., of Berkeley, Calif., is less expensive and that helps to explain its growing popularity. The cost for each Votomatic is about $200, compared with $2,000 for a lever-operated machine. The Votomatic weighs less than 20 pounds and can be folded to briefcase size.

David Dunbar, president of Computer Elections Systems, says one of his company's biggest chores between elections is to convince state officials of the efficiency of his system and get them to change their election laws.

It's not that the system invokes anything shady; it's just that when the laws were written the advanced technology did not exist and therefore it's not included in the method that can be used to conduct an election.

"There's a certain resistance to change," says Dunbar. "That's our big problem in lobbying. The other, of course, is the opposition." (Votomatic has 90 per cent of the computer card voting market.)

IBM bought the Votomatic system in 1965 from Harris, but in 1969 the company decided to divest itself of Votomatic. Dunbar, an IBM employee at the time, and nearly 30 other employees decided to take it over and they set up Computer Election System. In 1972, they bought the patent for a reported $700,000.

Does IBM regret that move, considering that CES reported over $1 million in net earnings for the year that ended last March?

"I haven't heard one way or another," chuckles Dunbar, whose 39th birthday falls just after the election.

Dunbar says there are more than 400 jurisdictions in 32 states that will use the system on Tuesday. These range from such giants as Los Angeles, with 7,000 voting districts, and Cook County (except Chicago) to very small districts such as Gray Harbor County, Wash., with 32,737 registered voters.

Ford said Friday it earned only $42 million in the July-September period because of the month-long United Auto Workers walkout, which shut down company operations on Sept. 14.

Profits fell 25 per cent from $56 million a year ago — when the industry was climbing out of a deep recession — and were the lowest for a third quarter since 1967, when Ford lost $74 million due to a 66-day UAW strike.

Had it not been for the latest walkout, the company said, it would have set a new thirdquarter earnings mark of at least $183 million, easily surpassing the record $102 million made in 1965.

Ford said the strike cut planned North American vehicle output in the quarter by 186,000 units, with a factory value of $930 million. The walkout, which trimmed another 237,000 units from October production, also will reduce fourthquarter earnings, Ford added.

Earlier this week, General Motors and Chrysler reported record profits for both the third quarter and first nine months of 1976, another sign of the industry's robust recovery from a two-year slump.

What's In A Name

NEW YORK (AP) — How do you name one of the world's biggest offshore oil developments?

Geologists working on Phillips Petroleum Co.'s project in the Norwegian sector of the North Sea found a solution.

Each sector was assigned a letter. As maps were developed, names coded to each letter were required. The geologists decided to use the name of a fish or shellfish for each letter, starting with amberjack, bass, cod, etc.

Arizona with 14 national monuments has more such monuments than any other state.

Campaign Sparks Little Enthusiasm

WASHINGTON (AP) — On the eve of a unique and perplexing presidential election, something is missing. Instead of fervor, there is an air of frustration. At the hour of decision, there is indecision.

At the fringes of the campaign crowds, in suburban living rooms, after the PTA meeting, conversation again and again brings a request for simple, compelling reasons to cast a ballot on Tuesday for President Ford or for Jimmy Carter.

But after this long campaign, the question answers itself by the fact that it is so often asked. For it has been a campaign with few hurrahs and no overriding issues. Neither Ford nor Carter has found the theme or the argument to put his imprint on the wavering, undecided voters who hold the key to Tuesday's outcome.

This has not been a good year for slogans, for either candidate or—perhaps more important—against him.

The choice was made far in advance by voters who would not have bought a used car from Richard M. Nixon long before Watergate, or feared Barry Goldwater's finger on the nuclear button, or saw George McGovern as the candidate of amnesty, acid and abortion.

That kind of built-in opposition did not always determine the outcome, but it did draw clear lines of opinion.

Neither President nor challenger has ever before run in a national election. And while Ford is a familiar figure after 27 months as president, he is in a new role now.

Neither man carries the baggage of past elections, the foes of past campaigns. Neither can successfully depict the other as extreme, or dangerous, or unacceptable to a significant bloc of the electorate. There is less to be against than in elections of the recent past — but neither candidate has been able to convince decisive numbers of voters that he offers them something to be for.

BancOhio Reports Nine Months Results

BancOhio Corporation recorded operating earnings of $5.8 million, or 80 cents per share, for the third quarter of 1976, and $17.3 million, or $2.37 per share for the first nine months. This compares with $5.7 million, or 77 cents per share for last year's thirdquarter and $18.0 million, or $2.47 per share for 1975's first nine months.

Net income after securities transactions amounted to $6.0 million, or 83 cents per share for the third quarter and $17.5 million, or $2.40 for the nine months. This compares with $5.7 million, or 77 cents per share and $17.4 million, or $2.37 per share for the same periods last year.

Robert G. Stevens, chairman and president, said deposits for the state-wide banking organization totaled $2.8 billion at September 30, 1976, up from $2.5 billion one year earlier. Loans totaled $1.5 billion, up from $1.4 billion. Assets amounted to $3.6 billion, compared with $3.1 billion one year previous.

Although total loans outstanding have increased, Stevens said business loans are down 4 per cent. Loans to individuals, especially residential mortgage loans, have increased to make up the difference.

BancOhio's consumer savings deposits increased by $216 million or 17 per cent compared to average deposits outstanding during the first nine months last year. Average demand deposits have increased by 3.5 per cent. Because of these increases in the volume of funds, net interest margin has increased some $2.9 million as compared to the first nine months of 1975. The rate of return, however, has declined.

Income from services has increased by $1.3 million compared to the first nine months of last year. Operating expenses, however, have increased more than revenues resulting in a $751,000 decline in earnings before securities transactions compared to results during the first nine months of 1975.

Operating expenses included a charge to earnings of $7.6 million as a provision for loan losses compared to $8.2 million provided for the first nine months of 1975. The reserve for loan losses has been increased during 1976. Actual loan charge-offs have decreased; some loans are being returned to earning status; and the recognition of problem situations is returning to normal.

Stevens said BancOhio is engaged in several major corporate programs designed to increase the potential for growth and profitability. These include a state-wide corporate identity program for the 41 affiliate banks, which have a total of 216 branch offices throughout Ohio, and a planned expansion of the corporation's centralized computer facilities and data communications network. He noted that these programs, while expected to be of significant future benefit, will place pressures on earnings during the fourth quarter and "to some measure" during 1977.

Directors of BancOhio Corporation, October 27, 1976, declared a regular quarterly cash dividend of 30 cents per share, payable December 10, 1976, to shareholders of record November 22, 1976.

Sentencing Slated In Yablonski Slaying

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) — Of the nine defendants charged in the 1969 conspiracy to assassinate United Mine Worker rebel Joseph A. Yablonski, only one has not been sentenced for the murders.

Aubran Wayne "Buddy" Martin, who continues to maintain his innocence in the killing of the three Yablonski family members, faced final sentencing today before Judge Charles G. Sweet in Washington County Court.

The judge was expected to sentence Martin, 28, to three consecutive life terms for the murders of Yablonski, his wife Margaret and daughter Charlotte on Dec. 31, 1969.

Sweet was also expected to recommend that Martin never be eligible for probation or parole.

On Nov. 13, 1971, a penalty of death was returned against Martin by the same jury which 24 hours earlier had convicted him of three counts of first degree murder.

Sweet did not formally sentence Martin to death until September 1973, a year after the U.S. Supreme Court found the punishment unconstitutional.

At that time, Sweet also sentenced Martin to three consecutive life terms without probation or parole, a pronouncement he intended to stand in case his sentence of death was overruled.

In November, 1975, the state Supreme Court did just that, but Special Prosecutor Richard Sprague appealed that decision to the U.S. Supreme Court, which in July of this year refused to review the decision.

Therefore, today's proceedings were a formality.

Testimony at Martin's trial by Claude Vealey, who pleaded guilty in the murders after turning state's evidence, indicated that Martin, Vealey and Paul Gilly were hired to assassinate the union insurgent for $5,200.

Vealey testified that Martin was a late substitute for James Phillips, who had withdrawn after he, Vealey and Gilly spent months unsuccessfully seeking the right moment to kill Yablonski.

Vealey said Martin shot Charlotte Yablonski twice in the head as she slept that night, entered the Yablonski bedroom and fired four shots at the couple when Vealey's gun jammed.

Martin, however, contended that he was recruited to steal a coin collection and stood watch outside the Clarksburg, Pa., home as his companions burglarized it. He said he did not know until five days later that the family had been killed.

Vealey has been sentenced to one life term and has hopes for parole. Gilly, who only admitted his guilt after he was convicted, was sentenced to three concurrent life terms at the same hearing in September.

Gilly's wife, Annette, and her father, Silous Huddleston, were given credit for the time they served and were released with new identities last year.

Two middle level UMW executives, William Prater and Albert Pass, are serving life terms as is former United Mine Workers President W.A. "Tony" Boyle who was convicted of masterminding the plot.

Swine Embryo Process Tested

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Scientists at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center are working on a new process of transferring fertilized swine embryos.

They say they believe this has the potential of enabling one superior sow to produce as many pigs in one year as her current normal lifetime production.

So far, animal scientists Ed Segerson and Tony Grifo have been able to achieve only 30 to 50 per cent conception rates. They are hoping to improve this and warn that claims of 80 per cent conception rates should be viewed with skepticism.

Deputies Investigate Accidents

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department investigated two minor injury accidents over the weekend.

The first occurred at 2:50 p.m. Saturday at the intersection of Kingston Pike and Circleville-Tarleton Road. According to the report, Rodger W. Oiler, 2530 Kingston Pike, was southbound on Kingston Pike, when he slowed for a car ahead of him that was making a right turn. After he had started to proceed through the intersection, a car driven by Mary B. Evans, Route 4, pulled into his path, and the two collided.

Ms. Evans received a bump on the head. She was taken to Berger Hospital by the Circleville Emergency Medical Squad.

The second accident came at 9:58 p.m., at the intersection of Ludwig-Dresbach and Morris-Salem Road.

According to the report, Robert L. Dearth, Route 4, was east bound on Ludwig-Dresbach Road and was approaching the intersection of Morris-Salem Road. He had reached over to catch a fish bowl that was sliding across the seat, and he took his eyes off the road. As Dearth did so he went through the intersection, striking trees and a wooden corner post. Dearth received nose and jaw injuries, and abrasions to his face. He was treated at the Berger Hospital Emergency Room.

WEA Sponsored Seminar On Self-Awareness

The Trinity Lutheran Church was the setting of the first professional seminar sponsored by the Westfall Education Association (WEA).

Ramon MacFarland of the Ohio Education Association led the activities which centered around developing self awareness. It dealt with prejudices and methods of using various values and clarification techniques in the classroom.

Three more seminars are also being planned; Sexism in the Schools, Transactional Analysis and New Ways of Discipline. The sessions are open to all employees of The Westfall School District. For more information, contact Judy Riethmiller, president of WEA.

The public opinion analysts detect an unusually high, and persistent, level of indecision among the voters. They find also that there is a lack of intensity in the support for both candidates.

And by every indicator, the contest is close, this election to restore the seal of voter approval to a White House run since Aug. 9, 1974, without benefit of ballot.

Both Ford and Carter have been criticized—and have assailed each other—for the conduct of the campaign, with its diversions into trivia and namecalling. Both have acknowledged mistakes. Both have said the disillusion born of a divisive war and of wrongdoing in high office may have turned off the voters. But there is no evidence that they have been able to turn the electorate back on.

With Ford, the question is competence, and Carter has done his utmost to feed what one Republican leader acknowledged is a nagging doubt that the President is up to the job he holds.

Ford did little to allay such doubts with the tactical missteps that dogged his campaign against Reagan, with his misstatement that there is no Soviet domination of eastern Europe, or with his handling of campaign and official personnel problems.

But his record is there for all to see, 27 months in the White House, with economic, foreign and military policies he says have been, and remain, the right ones. No mystery there; with Ford it is all on the record and on the table, the personality as well as the policy.

He says he would be proud indeed to have the American people say on Tuesday "Jerry, you've done a good job. Keep right on doing it."

Nonetheless, judgments about the characteristics of men are difficult judgements, more difficult this time because neither candidate has been this campaign route before.

The campaign has broken little ground on issues that affect the average American. Arguments about the U.S. response to a hypothetical Soviet move against Yugoslavia are about as relevant to the concerns of 1976 as Quemo and Matsu were to the voters of 1960.

Mistakes and misstatements have been magnified into major campaign topics. For a time, there was more talk about Playboy than platforms.

In the end, as public opinion analyst Peter Hart puts it, the election may turn on the judgment of the voters about Ford's competence and about Carter's character.

Nine months ago, Rep. Morris K. Udall sat on a platform with Carter in Manchester, N.H., and told voters to beware of the intensive, driven candidate who runs for president because he has to be president. At the Democratic National Convention, Udall was extolled as a good loser.

There remain misgivings about Carter among people who say that, after all this time, they still don't know where he stands. That is in part their fault, in part his. Hard, precise positions on specific points can win a candidate some supporters, but will inevitably cost him others. So Carter has generally avoided such precision, and speaks instead in terms of goals.

He is for tax reform, but has not said precisely what it will entail, only that no one who does not now gain unfair advantage need be concerned about his program. But try to find a taxpayer who will say that his own deductions are unfair.

So, too, on jobs, government reorganization and other points, Carter has had more to say about the goals than details of how to get there.

However, Carter has issued a stream of position papers, has answered uncountable questions, has campaigned actively for 22 months. Seldom has one politician been so thoroughly cross-examined.

Aubran Wayne "Buddy" Martin, who continues to maintain his innocence in the killing of the three Yablonski family members, faced final sentencing today before Judge Charles G. Sweet in Washington County Court.

The judge was expected to sentence Martin, 28, to three consecutive life terms for the murders of Yablonski, his wife Margaret and daughter Charlotte on Dec. 31, 1969.

Sweet was also expected to recommend that Martin never be eligible for probation or parole.

On Nov. 13, 1971, a penalty of death was returned against Martin by the same jury which 24 hours earlier had convicted him of three counts of first degree murder.

Sweet did not formally sentence Martin to death until September 1973, a year after the U.S. Supreme Court found the punishment unconstitutional.

At that time, Sweet also sentenced Martin to three consecutive life terms without probation or parole, a pronouncement he intended to stand in case his sentence of death was overruled.

In November, 1975, the state Supreme Court did just that, but Special Prosecutor Richard Sprague appealed that decision to the U.S. Supreme Court, which in July of this year refused to review the decision.

Therefore, today's proceedings were a formality.

Testimony at Martin's trial by Claude Vealey, who pleaded guilty in the murders after turning state's evidence, indicated that Martin, Vealey and Paul Gilly were hired to assassinate the union insurgent for $5,200.

Vealey testified that Martin was a late substitute for James Phillips, who had withdrawn after he, Vealey and Gilly spent months unsuccessfully seeking the right moment to kill Yablonski.

Vealey said Martin shot Charlotte Yablonski twice in the head as she slept that night, entered the Yablonski bedroom and fired four shots at the couple when Vealey's gun jammed.

Martin, however, contended that he was recruited to steal a coin collection and stood watch outside the Clarksville, Pa., home as his companions burglarized it. He said he did not know until five days later that the family had been killed.

Vealey has been sentenced to one life term and has hopes for parole. Gilly, who only admitted his guilt after he was convicted, was sentenced to three concurrent life terms at the same hearing in September.

Gilly's wife, Annette, and her father, Silous Huddleston, were given credit for the time they served and were released with new identities last year.

Two middle level UMW executives, William Prater and Albert Pass, are serving life terms as is former United Mine Workers President W.A. "Tony" Boyle who was convicted of masterminding the plot.

Swine Embryo Process Tested

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Scientists at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center are working on a new process of transferring fertilized swine embryos.

They say they believe this has the potential of enabling one superior sow to produce as many pigs in one year as her current normal lifetime production.

So far, animal scientists Ed Segerson and Tony Grifo have been able to achieve only 30 to 50 per cent conception rates. They are hoping to improve this and warn that claims of 60 per cent conception rates should be viewed with skepticism.

Senior Officers Introduced

By DEBBIE BOYER

This year's senior class officers at Westfall are an active group of young people.

The senior class president is Carl Strittmatter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Strittmatter of 22401 Smith-Hulse Road. Carl, 17, participates in French Club, Varsity "W" and is also a member of the football team. His outside activities include hunting and watching television. When asked about being president Carl said, "It thrills me to no end."

Chuck Bower, 17, is the senior class vice president and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bower, of Route 1, Mt. Sterling. Chuck is active in cross country and French Club. In his spare time he enjoys farming. Chuck's comment on being vice president was, "It thrills me to the other end."

Ruth Arnold, senior class secretary, resides at 12596 Clark Drive, Orient, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Arnold. Ruth, 17, is active at school with Mustang Country, Echo Staff and as an office worker. She also enjoys reading, sewing, and macrame. Ruth commented, "I enjoy being secretary because I know I'm helping my class and I know everything that's going on."

The treasurer, Emilie Caldwell is 17 and resides with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. John Caldwell, at 17950 State Route 104. Some of her activities at school include French Club, Mustang Country, Echo Staff, Annual Staff, and all four bands. Outside the school, she enjoys photography and is a member of the Young Republicans. "I think it's great being a class officer," was her comment.

We congratulate the officers for organizing a super homecoming and wish them the best luck in future events.

JONI MEADE

By JO CAROL HAWKES

"I enjoy teaching at Westfall and I feel that there are a lot of talented and creative students in the art classes," replied Miss Joni Meade, when asked her opinion of Westfall.

The new high school art teacher graduated from Bowling Green State University in 1975, with a bachelor of fine arts degree and certification to teach art in grades K-12. Miss Meade specialized in advertising design, but has a quite diversified field of study including ceramics, painting, print making, jewelry, sculpture, drawing, and art history.

Miss Meade's hobbies include water skiing, tennis, macrame, and jewelry making.

Mustang Country welcomes Miss Meade to the halls of Westfall High School.

The Mormon church was organized in Fayette, Seneca County, N.Y., by Joseph Smith, April 6, 1830.

Light Snow In Northeast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Light snow in northern New England and scattered showers in the Pacific Northwest Sunday marred an other-wise dry fall weather picture around the nation.

Skies were clear over central and southwestern states and along the southern Atlantic coast. They were mostly clear between the Appalachians and Rockies and into California.

Temperatures dropped into the 20s overnight in northeastern Minnesota and Upper Michigan, but held in the 70s in southern Florida.

Early morning temperatures around the nation ranged from 20 at Hibbing, Minn., to 73 at Key West, Fla.

Today's forecast called for rain in New England and the northwestern states of Washington, Idaho and Oregon.

Skies were to be cloudy over much of the upper Missouri Valley and clear to partly cloudy skies over the rest of the nation.

Mild temperatures were expected from the upper Mississippi Valley through the Plains states and into the Pacific coast area. Elsewhere, readings were to be cool to cold.

Hoosier Demos See Senate Win

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A veto-proof General Assembly appears to be a possibility as Hoosier Democrats go into Tuesday's election almost assured of taking control of the Indiana Senate and having a chance of preserving their majority in the House.

Republicans now control the Senate by a 27-23 margin, while Democrats control the House 54-44. Democratic control of both chambers would give the party the power to push through programs despite vetoes by Republican Gov. Otis R. Bowen.

In 1849 Ohio ranked first among the states in production of corn, which was the principal crop in the state in the number of bushels produced. In the 1820's the ground was generally prepared by the primitive wooden plow with an iron point and seed was planted by hand and the hoeing and hilling of the corn was the special work of the boys and sometimes the girls. Often, then, at harvest time, the burrs and weeds in the field would be four to eight feet in height.—AP

Partly cloudy and not as cold tonight. Lows in the mid to upper 30s. Mostly cloudy, breezy and warmer Tuesday. Highs in the mid to upper 50s. The chance of rain 10 per cent tonight and 20 per cent Tuesday.

Cloudiness will move over Ohio tonight as an area of low pressure from the northern plains into Canada will move southeastward. It will reach the western Great Lakes region by Tuesday morning.

As this system moves into the lower lakes Tuesday, some scattered showers may fall in the northern portions of Ohio during the day. Warmer temperatures will accompany the cloudiness as winds shift to southerly and rise to the mid and upper 50s by Tuesday afternoon. Nighttime will not be as cold with lows tonight in the 30s.

Toledo set a record low with 20 degrees early this morning. The old mark was 24 set in 1954. Other temperatures around the state early today were in the mid to upper 20s except in the southeast along the Ohio River where lows were in the lower 30s. Under clear skies dense fog also was widespread in the river valley from Cincinnati to Steubenville.

Some clouds also were drifting inland from Lake Erie in the extreme northeast counties. The large area of cold air covers the Great Lakes to Texas and was to move eastward to-day to the Appalachians.

New Hampshire was named by Capt. John Mason in 1629. He named his grant of land after Hampshire, his home in England.

VOTE JAMES R. KINGSLEY YOUR PROSECUTING ATTORNEY

As the Circleville City Solicitor and as an attorney, I have worked with James R. Kingsley as private counsel and as Assistant County Prosecutor. He has assisted me in county-wide prosecutions as Acting City Solicitor.

Jim has good, sound legal knowledge. He has excellent civil and criminal trial experience and has established good, industrious work patterns. More importantly, Jim is intensely devoted to the requirement that a prosecutor be fair and just in his service to our citizens. I look forward to developing with him a comprehensive service plan for the county.

I fully endorse James R. Kingsley for the office of Pickaway County Prosecuting Attorney and ask that you vote for him on November 2nd.

Light Snow In Northeast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Light snow in northern New England and scattered showers in the Pacific Northwest Sunday marred an otherwise dry fall weather picture around the nation.

Skies were clear over central and southwestern states and along the southern Atlantic coast. They were mostly clear between the Appalachians and Rockies and into California.

Temperatures dropped into the 20s overnight in northeastern Minnesota and Upper Michigan, but held in the 70s in southern Florida.

Early morning temperatures around the nation ranged from 20 at Hibbing, Minn., to 73 at Key West, Fla.

Today's forecast called for rain in New England and the northwestern states of Washington, Idaho and Oregon.

Skies were to be cloudy over much of the upper Missouri Valley and clear to partly cloudy skies over the rest of the nation.

Mild temperatures were expected from the upper Mississippi Valley through the Plains states and into the Pacific coast area. Elsewhere, readings were to be cool to cold.

Hoosier Demos See Senate Win

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A veto-proof General Assembly appears to be a possibility as Hoosier Democrats go into Tuesday's election almost assured of taking control of the Indiana Senate and having a chance of preserving their majority in the House.

Republicans now control the Senate by a 27-23 margin, while Democrats control the House 54-44. Democratic control of both chambers would give the party the power to push through programs despite vetoes by Republican Gov. Otis R. Bowen.

In 1849 Ohio ranked first among the states in production of corn, which was the principal crop in the state in the number of bushels produced. In the 1820's the ground was generally prepared by the primitive wooden plow with an iron point and seed was planted by hand and the hoeing and hilling of the corn was the special work of the boys and sometimes the girls. Often, then, at harvest time, the burrs and weeds in the field would be four to eight feet in height.—AP

Chicago Bears Edge Vikings, 14-13

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Fran Tarkenton and the Minnesota Vikings came in from the cold—and they came in as losers.

Until Sunday, Johnny Unitas had passed for more yards than anyone else in the history of the National Football League. Tarkenton took care of that matter.

And until Sunday, only the Vikings were unbeaten this year. The Chicago Bears took care of that matter, nipping them 14-13 in nippy, windy Soldier Field.

The Bears couldn't kick in that earlier loss, when they missed two extra-point attempts. They didn't have anything to kick about this time.

In Sunday's other games, Dallas downed Washington 20-7, St. Louis edged San Francisco 23-20 in overtime, Detroit dumped Green Bay 27-6, Miami beat New England 10-3, Philadelphia shut out the New York Giants 10-0, Pittsburgh defeated San Diego 23-0, Cincinnati downed Cleveland 21-6, Oakland overhauled-Denver 19-6, Los Angeles slugged Seattle 45-6, the New York Jets beat Buffalo 19-14, Atlanta topped New Orleans 23-20 and Kansas City tripped Tampa Bay 28-19. Houston is at Baltimore tonight.

Tarkenton, who scored the only Minnesota touchdown on a two-yard rollout, completed 24 of 46 passes for 272 yards. That gave him 40,421 yards—that's nearly 21 miles—in his career to Unitas' 40,239.

But it was hardly a consolation. "It means nothing," he said. "I wasn't thinking about breaking the record today. Hell, I only needed 91 yards and I knew I would get that sometime."

The other thing the Vikes got on the scoreboard were a pair of 24-yard Fred Cox field goals. What really got them, though, was a 17-mile-an-hour wind.

Neil Clabo, trying to kick into that wind, shanked a pair of punts. Both resulted in Chicago touchdowns. A 15-yarder was followed instantly by a 39-yard Walter Payton touchdown run in the first period. Clabo's 16-yarder in the fourth quarter gave the Bears the ball on the Minnesota 33 and they marched to the game-winning TD, when Johnny Musso ran three yards, fumbled at the goal line and recovered in the end zone.

And overjoyed Chicago Coach Jack Pardee grinned: "Now the Vikings have lost one like everyone else in the league."

Cowboys 20, Redskins 7

Roger Staubach, playing with a taped broken pinky on his right hand, played better than most quarterbacks with unbroken fingers.

He completed 13 of 23 passes for 152 yards and also ran one yard for a touchdown. Doug Dennison scored from the three and Efen Herrera kicked two field goals as the Cowboys scored their first victory in Washington since 1971.

"It's sore, but it wasn't a factor," Staubach said of the broken pinky. "I had no trouble throwing the ball although I had to grip it differently."

Cardinals 23, 49ers 20

The Cardinals remained one game back of Dallas in the National Conference East on Jim Bakken's 21-yard field goal with 6:42 gone in sudden-death overtime.

Lions 27, Packers 6

Ray Jarvis and Greg Landry teamed on touchdown pass plays of 74 and 13 yards, rookie Lawrence Gaines scored on a 26-yard sprint and rookie Bennie Ricardo kicked two field goals in the Lions' rout of Green Bay.

Dolphins 10, Patriots 3

Bill Arnsparger returned to head up the Dolphins' defense. It responded with a vengeance against the Patriots. Bob Griese's 16-yard TD pass to Jim Mandich in the second period was the winning score.

Eagles 10, Giants 0

John McVay came in as a head coach the way Arnsparger went out—a shutout loser. The Giants, who lost 27-0 to Pittsburgh a week ago, were blanked again as their scoreless string stretched to 10 quarters.

Steelers 23, Chargers 0

Pittsburgh limited San Diego's

sometimes-potent offense to just 124 offensive yards, 44 of them on the ground, and the Steelers blew open a close game with three touchdowns in the final period.

Bengals 21, Browns 6

Running back Boobie Clark, who has often complained about his lack of use in Cincinnati's aerial-oriented game, couldn't complain after what he did to the Browns.

Raiders 19, Broncos 6

Oakland struggled for three quarters against second-place Denver before Ken Stabler broke a 6-6 tie with a 31-yard touchdown pass to Fred Biletnikoff.

Rams 45, Seahawks 6

The Rams moved back atop the NFL West by one-half game over the 49ers by routing Seattle. James Harris, returning to action for the first time since an Oct. 11 shoulder injury, passed for touchdowns of 15 yards to Ron Jessie and 20 yards to Harold Jackson.

Jets 19, Bills 14

The Jets, who had beaten only Buffalo through their first seven games, did it to the Bills again. Richard Todd, starting in place of injured Joe Namath, tossed a 20-yard TD pass to David Knight.

Falcons 23, Saints 20

Scott Hunter entered the game in the second half and passed for touchdowns of 17 yards to Alfred Jenkins and five to Haskell Stanback that wiped out New Orleans' 14-0 lead, then Stanback scored on a one-yard plunge to snap Atlanta's four-game losing spin.

Chiefs 28, Bucs 19

Mike Livingston's pair of third-quarter touchdown passes woke up Kansas City's sluggish offense against Tampa Bay, offsetting a pair of Steve Spurrier touchdown tosses for the winless Bucs in the fourth period.

Dave Lawson of the Air Force Academy booted 51 field goals in 95 efforts during his college career.

from the three and Efen Herrera kicked two field goals as the Cowboys scored their first victory in Washington since 1971.

"It's sore, but it wasn't a factor," Staubach said of the broken pinky. "I had no trouble throwing the ball although I had to grip it differently."

Cardinals 23, 49ers 20
The Cardinals remained one game back of Dallas in the National Conference East on Jim Bakken's 21-yard field goal with 6:42 gone in sudden-death overtime.

Lions 27, Packers 6
Ray Jarvis and Greg Landry teamed on touchdown pass plays of 74 and 13 yards, rookie Lawrence Gaines scored on a 26-yard sprint and rookie Bennie Ricardo kicked two field goals in the Lions' rout of Green Bay.

Dolphins 10, Patriots 3
Bill Arnsparger returned to head up the Dolphins' defense. It responded with a vengeance against the Patriots. Bob Griese's 16-yard TD pass to Jim Mandich in the second period was the winning score.

Eagles 10, Giants 0
John McVay came in as a head coach the way Arnsparger went out—a shutout loser. The Giants, who lost 27-0 to Pittsburgh a week ago, were blanked again as their scoreless string stretched to 10 quarters.

Steelers 23, Chargers 0
Pittsburgh limited San Diego's

sometimes-potent offense to just 124 offensive yards, 44 of them on the ground, and the Steelers blew open a close game with three touchdowns in the final period.

Bengals 21, Browns 6
Running back Boobie Clark, who has often complained about his lack of use in Cincinnati's aerial-oriented game, couldn't complain after what he did to the Browns.

Raiders 19, Broncos 6
Oakland struggled for three quarters against second-place Denver before Ken Stabler broke a 6-6 tie with a 31-yard touchdown pass to Fred Biletnikoff.

Rams 45, Seahawks 6
The Rams moved back atop the NFL West by one-half game over the 49ers by routing Seattle. James Harris, returning to action for the first time since an Oct. 11 shoulder injury, passed for touchdowns of 15 yards to Ron Jessie and 20 yards to Harold Jackson.

Jets 19, Bills 14
The Jets, who had beaten only Buffalo through their first seven games, did it to the Bills again. Richard Todd, starting in place of injured Joe Namath, tossed a 20-yard TD pass to David Knight.

Falcons 23, Saints 20
Scott Hunter entered the game in the second half and passed for touchdowns of 17 yards to Alfred Jenkins and five to Haskell Stanback that wiped out New Orleans' 14-0 lead, then Stanback scored on a one-yard plunge to snap Atlanta's four-game losing spin.

Chiefs 28, Bucs 19
Mike Livingston's pair of third-quarter touchdown passes woke up Kansas City's sluggish offense against Tampa Bay, offsetting a pair of Steve Spurrier touchdown tosses for the winless Bucs in the fourth period.

inspired, saying: "There is no timing at all. God times it. I don't know why God timed it this way."

The deacons' decision was kept secret until during Sunday school. The Rev. Mr. Edwards said that during the deacons' meeting on Tuesday, he had brought to their attention the possible effect their decision could have on voters.

Carter, hearing of the church closing on the campaign trail in Texas, told reporters:

"The only thing I know is that our church for many years has accepted any worshipers who came there, and my own deep belief is that anyone who lives in our community and who wants to be a member of our church, regardless of race, ought to be admitted. And I know that the pastor agrees with me."

Later, while en route to San Francisco, Carter said in a formal statement:

"For several years, the Plains Baptist Church has admitted worshipers without discrimination. I will seek church action to continue worship opportunities and also offer membership to those who live in our community and who share our religious faith."

William I. Greener Jr., chief spokesman of the President Ford Committee, said in Washington, D.C., "Obviously we were not involved and have no further comment."

Peter Teeley, deputy press spokesman for the Ford committee, said, "If nothing else, it shows up some of the inconsistencies about Carter's beliefs on civil rights and religion."

In Atlanta, Rep. Andrew Young, Georgia's only black congressman and a Carter supporter, said the incident might actually win Carter votes among black Americans.

"If it was an attempt (to siphon votes away from Carter), it's almost certain to backfire," Young said.

The Rev. Mr. King, pastor of the nondenominational Divine Mission in Albany, supported a "back to Africa" movement for skilled blacks in the late 1950s. He sought the presidency in 1960 on the Afro-American party ticket and in 1962 sought political asylum in Jamaica because of what he termed "insidious persecution" in the United States. Jamaican officials rejected him.

In 1971, he announced in Concord, N.H., that he would enter that state's Republican presidential primary. Records show he never did.

In 1970, when Carter sought the Democratic nomination for governor in Georgia, the Rev. Mr. King ran for the Republican gubernatorial nomination as a write-in candidate.

This year, he was defeated simultaneously in the August primaries for the Georgia legislature, Dougherty County Commission and Albany City Commission.

He was arrested in 1966 and spent four years in California prisons for failure to pay child support for his six children. The state Supreme Court later overturned the law under which he was jailed.

The Atlanta Constitution said in today's editions that the Rev. Mr. King had spent two weeks in the Mississippi State Mental Hospital in 1958 after trying to gain admission to the then-segregated University of Mississippi at Oxford.

Ohio Dairymen Highly Efficient

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio dairymen are among the most efficient producers of milk in the country. But Ohio State University extension dairy specialist Wallace Taylor said some producers are more efficient than others.

Herd averages last year ranged from 210 pounds of butterfat per cow to 930 pounds—a variation of more than 400 per cent, he said. The variation in milk production was even greater, Taylor said, ranging from 3,882 to 24,106 pounds per cow. That's a spread of more than 620 per cent.

While breed differences accounted for some of this, Taylor said limiting the comparison to Holstein herds alone still produces a spread of 8,118 to 24,106 pounds of milk per cow.

These four constitutional amendments will cost all Ohioans money and freedom!

Vote NO on Issue 4: "Lifeline" is no bargain for anyone.

Issue 4 doesn't promise lower utility rates for low or fixed income families, it just passes the buck for total energy used. Low and fixed income people who use more than the constitutionally set minimum amount will pay higher rates, as will schools, hospitals, grocery stores, all businesses, industry and tax-supported institutions. That will boost taxes and prices for everyone . . . and strangle Ohio industry!

Vote NO on Issue 5: Don't waste money on duplicated efforts.

The Residential Utility Consumer Action Group (RUCAG) is not needed. It will waste your money because RUCAG would simply duplicate the Ohio Consumer Counsel. To support RUCAG, you would have to pay $6 more a year on your energy bill.

Vote NO on Issue 6: Don't vote for power shortages and high electric rates.

Issue 6 would virtually ban nuclear energy, lead to power shortages and keep Ohioans from the benefits of a safe, economical fuel. Nuclear fuel is cheaper than other energy sources available to produce electricity. It can help hold future electric rates down. Despite claims to the contrary, nuclear power is safe!

Vote NO on Issue 7: Don't compromise the democratic process.

Issue 7 will raise your taxes and hurt the democratic process as well. By decreasing the number of signatures needed to put an issue like this one on the ballot, the number of proposals by special interest groups will increase. And every time an issue goes on the ballot, it costs YOU and other taxpayers $150,000. The proposal would allow special interest groups in one or more high population areas to put petitions on the ballot to the detriment of the rest of the people in the state.

Farm Prices Continue Lower

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government figures show that lower farm prices for major commodities this year continue to be the main reason consumers have seen increases in retail food costs slow down dramatically from their soaring pace of 1973 and 1974.

For all of 1976, according to the Agriculture Department, retail food prices are expected to climb an average of 3 per cent, the smallest gain since 1972. Food prices soared 14.5 per cent annually in 1973 and 1974 before easing to an 8.5 per cent gain last year.

The moderate 3 per cent climb in food prices is expected to continue at least through mid-1977, according to department experts.

A USDA analysis of a market-basket list of food items originated on U.S. farms shows that middleman charges for transporting, processing and selling food continue to dominate consumer grocery prices.

The market basket list includes 65 items bought at retail grocery stores. It does not include seafood or imported products such as coffee, bananas and most of the sugar used by American consumers. Neither does it take into account what families spend for food away from home.

Thus, the market basket analysis does not embrace the entire food price spectrum faced by consumers. But the market basket list does account for most of a family's food spending and so provides a perspective to the prices that consumers pay for selected items what farmers, on the average, get for them in the first place.

In September, the most recent month checked, the retail cost of the 65-item market basket average one-tenth of 1 per cent lower than it did in August. Compared with a year earlier, the September cost also was down one-tenth of 1 per cent.

But the farmer's share of the market basket retail cost dropped 2 per cent from August and averaged 13.7 per cent below September 1975, the department said. Meanwhile, the middleman portion of the market basket price — which averages about 60 per cent of what consumers actually pay for food — declined only three-tenths of 1 per cent from August to September. Compared with September 1975, the middleman share was 9.3 per cent larger.

Meat prices offer an example of what has happened. Cattle and hog prices at the farm are well below what they were a year ago, and this has had an impact.

The September average price of beef in retail stores, for example, was slightly more than $1.34 a pound on an all-cut basis, down 1.1 per cent from nearly $1.36 a pound in August. Compared with Sept. 1975 when beef was a near record of almost $1.53 a pound, a drop of more than 12 per cent in a year.

According to the USDA analysis, the farm value of beef sold in retail stores in September was 72.6 cents a pound, down slightly from August but almost 28 per cent below what it was a year earlier. That is not what farmers get for live cattle — it takes nearly 2.3 pounds of steer on the hoof to make one pound of supermarket beef — but it does represent the farmer's share of what consumers pay.

ROSE QUEEN — Diane Ramaker, 20, has been named Rose Queen. She will lead the 1977 Rose Parade and preside over the Rose Bowl football game on New Year's Day.

VOTE FOR JOHN D. BOST for PICKAWAY COUNTY SHERIFF

I think its time for a change in the Sheriff's Office in Pickaway County. I have been in Pickaway County for 11 years; 7 years as Commander of the local Highway Patrol Post. I know, first hand, that the sheriff's department has not utilized all available enforcement agencies in the county to the fullest.

John Bost has the programs and administrative know how to do the job better with less cost to the taxpayer.

Bost is new in politics, not new in police administration or new in the world. He understands our needs and will administer the office of Sheriff in an efficient and professional manner.

It's time to get our sheriff's department out of politics and into the hands of a policeman that is concerned with promoting law enforcement, safety and crime prevention throughout the entire county, rather than continually put this job in the hands of a politician who's only motivation is to get re-elected, with no regard for efficiency or professionalism.

Nuns Get Course In Self-Defense

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If a thug ever tries to assault Sister Rita Agnes Masse, he's in for a surprise.

The diminutive Roman Catholic nun is one of 20 graduates of a rape defense seminar conducted by Franklin County Sheriff's Deputy Larry Greene.

"Your attitude has to be geared to that one moment," Greene told the sisters at Ohio Dominican College. "It goes against everything you've been taught."

"Why don't you just forget we're sisters — we're women," called out one of the older nuns in the class.

Greene told the nuns that a sexual assault is "no longer the simple rape. Rapists now torture, they are highly sadistic. They have a hatred toward women and will try to punish any woman they can."

Greene, director of the physical education at the county jail, warned the nuns "you're making yourselves vulnerable" with changing dress codes.

"But that doesn't really make any difference today," said one nun, implying that religious servants aren't as respected as they once were.

Determined to learn how to defend themselves, most of the women took to the mats vigorously tossing each other and members of a judo club.

Greene advised the women that if attacked by an armed man, the best idea is to go along until he tries to begin a sexual assault.

At that point, when his face is near, "you have one chance — right in the eyes," Greene said.

"What if it's your luck to get a rapist with glasses? Just glide your fingers up his cheekbones and under the glasses."

Cancer Group Still Active

BURLINGTON, Iowa (AP) — When Orville Kelly learned he was dying of cancer three years ago, he founded a group called Make Today Count, to help the terminally ill and their families deal with the tragedy.

From its modest start in his home here, MTC has grown to 70 chapters across the country and one in Germany. Kelly, now 46, makes dozens of appearances a year to promote the group's philosophy.

"You've got to be able to talk about it," he said in an interview. "Many people isolate themselves and that's when problems begin."

"If we don't want pity, we shouldn't ask for it. But we can ask for understanding of what we're going through, why we're having problems, why we're depressed and why we are afraid to die."

Married and the father of four, the former newspaperman learned in 1973 that he had lymphoma, cancer of the lymph glands. He takes chemotherapy treatments, but he said "there will probably be a relapse in the next year or two. I'll face that when the time comes."

MTC has an office in Burlington, with one fulltime and two parttime secretaries. The organization has received a grant from evangelist Norman Vincent Peale's Outreach program.

OSU Enrollment Shows Slight Dip

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University enrollment figures for autumn quarter 1976 show 61 fewer students than last year.

Elaine Hairston, assistant vice president for registration services, said official totals for the university's Columbus and regional campuses show 54,579 students enrolled.

Journalism and engineering showed the greatest gains in student enrollment, with 9 per cent and 11 per cent respectively. Architecture and continuing education each declined 6 per cent in enrollment.

Within the city of Rome lies Vatican City, an independent country of 0.2 square miles.

Farm Prices Continue Lower

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government figures show that lower farm prices for major commodities this year continue to be the main reason consumers have seen increases in retail food costs slow down dramatically from their soaring pace of 1973 and 1974.

For all of 1976, according to the Agriculture Department, retail food prices are expected to climb an average of 3 per cent, the smallest gain since 1972. Food prices soared 14.5 per cent annually in 1973 and 1974 before easing to an 8.5 per cent gain last year.

The market basket list includes 65 items bought at retail grocery stores. It does not include seafood or imported products such as coffee, bananas and most of the sugar used by American consumers. Neither does it take into account what families spend for food away from home.

Thus, the market basket analysis does not embrace the entire food price spectrum faced by consumers. But the market basket list does account for most of a family's food spending and so provides a perspective to the prices that consumers pay for selected items what farmers, on the average, get for them in the first place.

In September, the most recent month checked, the retail cost of the 65-item market basket average one-tenth of 1 per cent lower than it did in August. Compared with a year earlier, the September cost also was down one-tenth of 1 per cent.

But the farmer's share of the market basket retail cost dropped 2 per cent from August and averaged 13.7 per cent below September 1975, the department said. Meanwhile, the middleman portion of the market basket price — which averages about 60 per cent of what consumers actually pay for food — declined only three-tenths of 1 per cent from August to September. Compared with September 1975, the middleman share was 9.3 per cent larger.

Meat prices offer an example of what has happened. Cattle and hog prices at the farm are well below what they were a year ago, and this has had an impact.

The September average price of beef in retail stores, for example, was

Nuns Get Course In Self-Defense

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If a thug ever tries to assault Sister Rita Agnes Masse, he's in for a surprise.

The diminutive Roman Catholic nun is one of 20 graduates of a rape defense seminar conducted by Franklin County Sheriff's Deputy Larry Greene.

"Your attitude has to be geared to that one moment," Greene told the sisters at Ohio Dominican College. "It goes against everything you've been taught."

"Why don't you just forget we're sisters — we're women," called out one of the older nuns in the class.

Greene told the nuns that a sexual assault is "no longer the simple rape. Rapists now torture, they are highly sadistic. They have a hatred toward women and will try to punish any woman they can."

Greene, director of the physical education at the county jail, warned the nuns "you're making yourselves vulnerable" with changing dress codes.

"But that doesn't really make any difference today," said one nun, implying that religious servants aren't as respected as they once were.

Determined to learn how to defend themselves, most of the women took to the mats vigorously tossing each other and members of a judo club.

Greene advised the women that if attacked by an armed man, the best idea is to go along until he tries to begin a sexual assault.

At that point, when his face is near, "you have one chance — right in the eyes," Greene said.

"What if it's your luck to get a rapist with glasses? Just glide your fingers up his cheekbones and under the glasses."

Cancer Group Still Active

BURLINGTON, Iowa (AP) — When Orville Kelly learned he was dying of cancer three years ago, he founded a group called Make Today Count, to help the terminally ill and their families deal with the tragedy.

From its modest start in his home here, MTC has grown to 70 chapters across the country and one in Germany. Kelly, now 46, makes dozens of appearances a year to promote the group's philosophy.

"You've got to be able to talk about it," he said in an interview. "Many people isolate themselves and that's when problems begin."

"If we don't want pity, we shouldn't ask for it. But we can ask for understanding of what we're going through, why we're having problems, why we're depressed and why we are afraid to die."

Married and the father of four, the former newspaperman learned in 1973 that he had lymphoma, cancer of the lymph glands. He takes chemotherapy treatments, but he said "there will probably be a relapse in the next year or two. I'll face that when the time comes."

MTC has an office in Burlington, with one fulltime and two parttime secretaries. The organization has received a grant from evangelist Norman Vincent Peale's Outreach program.

OSU Enrollment Shows Slight Dip

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University enrollment figures for autumn quarter 1976 show 61 fewer students than last year.

Elaine Hairston, assistant vice president for registration services, said official totals for the university's Columbus and regional campuses show 54,579 students enrolled.

Journalism and engineering showed the greatest gains in student enrollment, with 9 per cent and 11 per cent respectively. Architecture and continuing education each declined 6 per cent in enrollment.

Within the city of Rome lies Vatican City, an independent country of 0.2 square miles.

VOTE FOR JOHN D. BOST for PICKAWAY COUNTY SHERIFF

I think it's time for a change in the Sheriff's Office in Pickaway County. I have been in Pickaway County for 11 years; 7 years as Commander of the local Highway Patrol Post. I know, first hand, that the sheriff's department has not utilized all available enforcement agencies in the county to the fullest.

John Bost has the programs and administrative know how to do the job better with less cost to the taxpayer.

Bost is new in politics, not new in police administration or new in the world. He understands our needs and will administer the office of Sheriff in an efficient and professional manner.

It's time to get our sheriff's department out of politics and into the hands of a policeman that is concerned with promoting law enforcement, safety and crime prevention throughout the entire county, rather than continually put this job in the hands of a politician who's only motivation is to get re-elected, with no regard for efficiency or professionalism.

Your Views On Tiger
Horoscope Television

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You now have the inside track in a number of ways — if you will just recognize opportunities when available and handle them in your usual clever manner.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Recall an old tack or maneuver that could inspire, invigorate this day. Not everything new is THE thing, you know.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Mercury influences auspicious. Put your mind and keen powers of observation to work, but DON'T make impulsive decisions. A good day for accomplishments.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): In an effort to bridge certain gaps and ease potential stresses, you may find your patience strained almost to the limit, but it will be worthwhile in the long run.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Some persons may try to enlist your help in putting over a dubious scheme. The Leoite is usually above such tactics, but be careful not to fall into a trap now. Some deceptive influences.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): As with Leo, suggestions and situations could be deceptive now and it may be difficult to make sensible decisions, so stick with routine. Postpone unnecessary action.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Some restrictions where personal relationships are concerned. In mid-morning, especially, avoid discussions which could upset associates.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Friends will make demands on your time, energy and cash. Be wary. One who is especially aggressive may pose a real problem. Counteract with tact, poise.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): An unexpected encounter with the "right" person brightens your prospects for attaining an almost "impossible" goal.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Your judgment may be clouded by emotionalism. Postpone making important decisions for 48 hours.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Certain events can act as guideposts for the future. Keep attuned to new trends and don't miss a trick.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): You will do yourself a big favor if you do not overtax yourself, and your "sixth sense" should tell you whether you ARE overdoing things or not. Curb spending.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a high order of intellect, a lively imagination and are extremely progressive in your thinking. Always active, your nature is an adventurous one and you are always ready to try "something new." This latter quality gives you great potentials for succeeding in the scientific fields — especially in medicine, where most natives of Scorpio shine. Extremely versatile, however, there are many other careers which would prove excellent outlets for your talents, notably: business management, writing, the theater, the law, politics, exploration of any type. Birthdate of: Daniel Boone, Amer. frontiersman; James J. Polk and Warren G. Harding, U.S. Presidents; Burt Lancaster, screen star.

A yellow fever epidemic in Philadelphia in 1793 killed an estimated 5,000 persons.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It is a producer's lot to worry, but executive producer Byron Paul puts his heart into it when pondering the future of Dick Van Dyke's new NBC comedy-variety show.

NBC has moved it — starting Nov. 11 — from 10 p.m. EDT Thursdays, where it'd been opposing CBS' "Barnaby Jones" and ABC's hit "Streets of San Francisco" — to the "family hour" that night.

As the show originally was scheduled by NBC to air Thursdays in the family hour, one might think Paul, who runs Van Dyke's show, would be overjoyed by the reshuffle. One would be wrong.

"I have a gut feeling we're going to be buried there," he said, referring to the stiff ratings competition to come from CBS' "The Waltons" and ABC's "Welcome Back, Kotter" and "Barney Miller."

That kind of competition did in NBC's new "Gemini Man," which was canceled last Thursday.

Oddly enough, Paul said at the start of the season he liked having Van Dyke in 10 p.m. EDT battle against action-adventure shows even though some felt it would spell ratings doom for the comic.

"I thought it was a brilliant programming move," he said, adding that it'd give viewers an excellent choice of chuckles on NBC or cops on ABC and a private eye on CBS.

But consider: Van Dyke's show premiered on a Monday, Sept. 20, after "Airport '75," which helped give it big ratings. But it was preempted in its regular Thursday slot Sept. 23 by a Ford-Carter debate.

On the next Thursday, it was bumped by a two-hour "Best Sellers" premiere. Van Dyke appeared as scheduled the next two Thursdays, but was preempted Oct. 22 by the final game of the World Series.

He appeared last Thursday, but has been pre-empted this Thursday by a two-hour "Best Sellers" show, preceded by a repeat of a Clark Gable documentary in the former "Gemini Man" time period.

Van Dyke did poorly in the ratings in the two consecutive Thursdays his show was on, but Paul thinks that was due more to viewer uncertainty about when the show would appear than to the competition's strength.

It takes time to build an audience, he said, but pre-emptions of a supposedly weekly series didn't help the cause much.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You now have the inside track in a number of ways — if you will just recognize opportunities when available and handle them in your usual clever manner.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Recall an old tack or maneuver that could inspire, invigorate this day. Not everything new is THE thing, you know.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Mercury influences auspicious. Put your mind and keen powers of observation to work, but DON'T make impulsive decisions. A good day for accomplishments.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): In an effort to bridge certain gaps and ease potential stresses, you may find your patience strained almost to the limit, but it will be worthwhile in the long run.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Some persons may try to enlist your help in putting over a dubious scheme. The Leoite is usually above such tactics, but be careful not to fall into a trap now. Some deceptive influences.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): As with Leo, suggestions and situations could be deceptive now and it may be difficult to make sensible decisions, so stick with routine. Postpone unnecessary action.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Some restrictions where personal relationships are concerned. In mid-morning, especially, avoid discussions which could upset associates.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Friends will make demands on your time, energy and cash. Be wary. One who is especially aggressive may pose a real problem. Counteract with tact, please.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): An unexpected encounter with the "right" person brightens your prospects for attaining an almost "impossible" goal.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Your judgment may be clouded by emotionalism. Postpone making important decisions for 48 hours.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Certain events can act as guideposts for the future. Keep attuned to new trends and don't miss a trick.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): You will do yourself a big favor if you do not overtax yourself, and your "sixth sense" should tell you whether you ARE overdoing things or not. Curb spending.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a high order of intellect, a lively imagination and are extremely progressive in your thinking. Always active, your nature is an adventurous one and you are always ready to try "something new." This latter quality gives you great potentials for succeeding in the scientific fields — especially in medicine, where most natives of Scorpio shine. Extremely versatile, however, there are many other careers which would prove excellent outlets for your talents, notably: business management, writing, the theater, the law, politics, exploration of any type. Auditor Sends Registration Fees

State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson's office reported the fourth advance distribution of 1976 state motor vehicle registration fees totaling $3,504,681 to Ohio Counties, cities, townships and villages today.

Of the amount, $552,264 went to 60 counties and-or their municipalities that imposed an additional $5 levy on each set of license plates sold in 1976. The counties received 47 per cent of the remainder, or $1,387,635.99, while the municipalities shared 34 per cent, or $1,003,821.78 on the basis of vehicle count.

Under the complicated formula by which motor vehicle license money is apportioned to the local political subdivisions the counties received most of the funds, Ferguson said.

The distribution of license fees is based on a formula involving the number of motor vehicles registered within a county or municipality, number of miles and townships within a county and a big county-small county equalization factor.

The other $560,959.23 was distributed to the counties and townships on a nine per cent county road mileage basis, a five per cent county equalization factor and a five per cent township road mileage basis.

Ferguson said under these three formulas the counties shared $265,717.53 of the nine per cent basis and $147,620.85 (each county receiving $1,696.79) in five per cent equalization funds. The 1,320 townships shared in a total of $147,620.85 based on the number of road miles within their borders.

Under the 47 per cent county and 84 per cent municipality distribution formula, Pickaway County retained $537.21.

McDonald Urges 'No' Vote On Issues 4 Thru 7

David E. McDonald, chairman of the Pickaway County "Vote No 4-thru-7 Committee" said today it was important for all registered voters to go to the polls on election day. McDonald emphasized that it is the only way we can make our system work.

"Our system has demonstrated that it works and works well over the past 200 years, but it will only continue to work if we are willing to make it work," he said.

"We have some crucial decisions to make this year — not the least of which is the future economic development of Ohio. The proposed amendments to Ohio's constitution are very important to our state's future economic growth and well being."

"These issues deserve a full, and proper debate," said McDonald. "We can get that fair, impartial hearing in a proper atmosphere and sane, sound decisions effecting Ohio's future growth can be made by our elected representatives in the legislature."

"The constitution of Ohio is not the proper forum for settling these important issues," said McDonald. "We can't write them into concrete."

These issues can receive the proper debate, pro and con, in the Ohio Legislature. I urge every voter to take a good, long, hard look at State Issues 4, 5, 6, and 7 and see how they will adversely affect Ohio's well-being and future growth.

"They do not belong, I am convinced, in Ohio's constitution. They are subject matter that needs open, public debate, such as before a committee of the state Legislature, said McDonald.

"I urge you to vote No on State Issues 4, 5, 6 and 7 and to urge your legislators to take a serious look at these complicated questions that we are being asked to decide. This will protect your interest and it will make our system of government work for all of us," he concluded.

Board Member Rips Perk School Plan

CLEVELAND (AP) — Walter A. Burks Jr., a member of the Ohio Board of Education, Sunday criticized Cleveland Mayor Ralph J. Perk's call for area mayors to consider ways to avoid any court plan for Cleveland schools that may require busing.

Perk's gesture was in response to a request by the state board that Ohio school officials prepare a desegregation plan to include suburbs as well as a plan for Cleveland schools alone.

Burks, from Cleveland, said the board is attempting to comply with the order by U.S. Judge Frank J. Battisti to find solutions to desegregation in Cleveland schools, and that no decisions have been made.

Saying Perk's response was premature and suggests "racism and politics," Burks said, "It is well known that those cities which accomplished desegregation of their schools without violence did so because of the enlightened and dynamic leadership of their communities."

"Therefore, to find the mayor of Cleveland attempting to form a coalition of mayors to avoid any court plan to desegregate the Cleveland public schools is unconscionable," Burks added.

He said, "This does enormous harm to those of us who must strive to find a way to provide equal and unsegregated quality education for all the children of the state of Ohio."

Gertrude A. Sump, running against Burks for the seat on the state board, took a different approach to Perk's move.

"What's wrong with freedom of speech for Mayor Perk and the other mayors?" she asked. "I feel it would be beneficial to discuss the issues with mayors of cities that might be involved and thus maintain good relationships with the suburbs."

"The mayors know what their communities can afford and what their people want," she added. "The best time to stop an undesired program is to check it before it is ordered or started."

OPEN DATING... YOUR ASSURANCE OF FRESHNESS

To make sure the fruits and vegetables you take home are always at their peak of flavor Kroger dates them for freshness. It tells you the last day an item may be sold to assure you an adequate storage and usage time in your home. And if you're not completely satisfied with any purchase just bring it back for replacement or refund.
